City Is Opening Talk On Streets

Council, Planners To Be Given List Of Projects Totaling $10,000,000

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Members of the City Council and Planning Commission will be given a list Thursday of 31 street improvement needs with a total estimated cost of $10,187,300 from which a program will be mapped for submission to the voters at the June 26 special election.

Fifteen of the projects would be eligible for federal aid. The estimated cost of these is $6,387,000 of which the city would pay half or $3,193,000.

The remaining 16 projects, costing an estimated $3,800,000, would be all city-financed. Thus, the entire 31 projects would cost the city $6,993,300.

One of the most costly projects, an estimated $907,000 for widening and re-paving of O from 27th to 48th, would definitely not be a part of any bond program to be submitted to voters June 26, according to Mayor Clark Jeary. The Council plans to finance that improvement out of funds now on hand.

The O Street job would be eligible for federal participation, leaving the city's share of the cost at $435,500. High federal standards of construction have boosted earlier estimates of the job which were just over $500,000.

All Very General

City engineer Carl Fisher who will submit the projects to the Council and Commission Thursday morning, emphasized the fact that all estimates, with the exception of O Street, were very general. He agreed, however, that such estimates would have to be the basis on any program that is to be submitted by June 26.

There would not be time between now and then, he said, to make field studies and come up with firm figures.

Fisher emphasized also that the projects are not to be considered as a proposed program from his department. These projects, he said, are only a list of worthwhile improvements from which the Council may pick a program to place on the ballot.

However, he considers all of the improvements worthy of the Council's consideration.

Diagonal Big Cost

One of the most substantial group of items under the federal participation list are those which constitute the northeast radial highway. The radial itself, from 17th and Holdrege to 48th and Fremont, has an estimated cost of $1,458,000, with the federal government paying half.

As a feeder into and out of the radial, 17th would be widened and re-paved to a width of 52 feet from Q to Holdrege at a cost of $498,000 with the government again assuming half the cost.

The existing viaduct over the railroad tracks at 17th and Holdrege would be supplemented with another 26 foot span 700 feet long to cost $300,000, which would also be split with the government.

Fremont Widening

At the northeast end of the radial, Fremont would be widened and repaved from 48th to 70th at a cost of $675,000 with the government paying half.

A total of five individual projects with an estimated cost of $697,000 are included in Fisher's list to carry the southeast diagonal on to 56th and Normal. This project is also eligible for federal aid on a 50-50 matching basis.

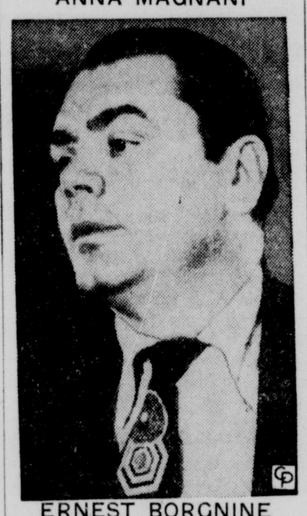
ANNA MAGNANI



ERNEST BORGNINE

Magnani, Borgnine Top Stars

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Beetle-browed Ernest Borgnine, the shy, love-sick butcher of "Marty," and Italy's fiery Anna Magnani were named the best movie actor and actress of 1955 Wednesday night at the 28th annual academy awards.

The husky choking Borgnine, whose role in "Marty" was one of the most widely hailed in recent motion picture history, accepted his coveted golden Oscar statuette in Hollywood from her-grace-to-be-Grace Kelly.

Miss Magnani honored for her role in "The Rose Tattoo," was in Italy with her ailing son, and the award was accepted for her by Marisa Pavan, an unsuccessful nominee for best supporting actress for her role in the same picture.

"Marty" continued ints sweep of virtually all 1955 film honors by capturing the oscar as the best picture of the year. It won a total of four awards in Wednesday nights nationally-televised academy awards.

'Thanks'

In accepting his Oscar, the almost speechless Borgnine finally cleared his throat and expressed his thanks to "my mother for giving me the idea of going into this wonderful business, my pop for being steadfast and my lovely wife for helping me."

Comedian Jerry Lewis, master of ceremonies at the Hollywood end of the two-coast awards ceremony, took the occasion to wish Miss Kelly "good luck and a very happy life" with her husband-to-be Prince Rainier III of Monaco. The lovely star flies to New York Friday and thence to Europe for the wedding next month.

Jack Lemmon

The other two most important awards, presented before batteries of NBC-TV cameras at the Pantages Theater on fabled Hollywood Boulevard and the Century Theater in New York, went to Jack Lemmon and Jo Van Fleet as the best supporting performers of last year.

Lemmon was singled out for his buffoonery as a naval officer in "Mr. Roberts" and Miss Van Fleet was honored for her portrayal of the bawdy house-keeping mother of the late James Dean in "East of Eden."

The song, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," by Sammy Fain and Paul Webster, was judged the best movie tune of last year. It was sung on the show by Eddie Fisher in New York, where Claudette Colbert was mistress of ceremonies.

Delbert Mann, collected another of the awards to "Marty," as the year's best director.

"The Rose Tattoo," Miss Magnani's first American film, tied with "Marty" by collecting four academy awards.

Soviets Set Off A-Blast

Britain Reports New Russian Test Series

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U. S. reported Wednesday night that Russia has exploded another "nuclear device" within the past few days and Britain said it was a new series of Red tests.

A brief announcement by Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, said: "Within the past few days the Soviets had exploded another nuclear device.

"This is the fifth U. S. announcement of Soviet nuclear weapon tests in the past eight months."

At the same time, the British Defense Ministry said that the Soviet Union had recently begun a new series of nuclear tests.

Warheads

There was no indication in the initial allied statements whether the Russians are testing new and larger super bombs, or are setting off warheads that might be designed for use in missiles of artillery shells.

It was assumed, however, that radioactivity from the explosion has been detected in the West's worldwide system for measuring atmospheric conditions and that some idea of the size of the blast has been obtained.

This was the first time that the Soviets have tested nuclear weapons in the spring and it preceded by more than a month U. S. experiments scheduled in the Pacific. Both U. S. H-bombs and anti-aircraft warheads will be fired sometime after April 20.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), a member of the joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said the group has been kept "currently informed" of the Soviet tests.

Jackson declared that the experiments "are further corroboration of the fact that all this Soviet peace talk is double talk."

The four previous U. S. announcements of Soviet tests in the past eight months included the Russian super H-bomb in November and three smaller explosions detected in late August.

22 Blasts

Nuclear tests have been held by the Russians for the last three years and the Reds have set off at least 22 explosions, but the previous blasts have occurred in the summer or fall.

The last previous announcement concerning the Russian activity came Nov. 23, when the AEC disclosed the Soviet had touched off an H-bomb equal to millions of tons of TNT. In the same 1955 series, the Soviets set off at least four smaller explosions that may have been warheads for missiles or artillery shells.

Word subsequently has reached military quarters in Washington that the Russians have a 233 millimeter cannon and a 240 millimeter mortar that are capable of firing atomic shells.

Caught By A Ring

Portland, Ore., detective Bill Taylor said a high school ring was the clue that caused Nebraska authorities to issue a warrant for Homer Thomas Morrison, 26, above, charging him with robbing the Boelus, Neb., State Bank last Oct. 29. Taylor said the ring, left behind at the scene, was traced to Morrison. Story appears on page 14. (AP Wirephoto)

More Power Available At Missouri Dams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 89,000 kilowatts of additional firm hydro electric power is going to be made available to preference customers in the upper Missouri River Basin, Secretary of the Interior McKay announced Wednesday.

McKay said the added power will go to customers in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska. He said some will go to present customers and some to new customers.

The Reclamation Bureau markets power produced at the dams. It earlier had allocated 280,000 kilowatts to preference customers in the five states.

William Whalen, Retired Banker, Businessman, Dies

William Whalen, a retired Richardson County landowner and former Lincoln and southeast Nebraska businessman and banker, died at his home Wednesday night. He was in his late 70s.

Mr. Whalen, whose home was at 2947 Stratford, had lived in Lincoln over 40 years and in Nebraska most of his life. He was born in Pana, Ill.

He had owned a bank and owned land in the extreme southeast corner of the state, but he retired from those activities some years ago.

He was associated with the late L. H. Pauley in the old Merchants Casualty Co., which later became the Lincoln Bonding Co. under new direction. Mr. Whalen held the title of secretary-treasurer of Merchants. He sold his interest in the firm about 10 years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Clara Whalen; two daughters, Mrs. Cliff Schroff of Lincoln and Mrs. William York of Kansas City, Mo.; and two sons, George Whalen of Lincoln and Jack Whalen of Akron, O. Another son, Dale Whalen, was administrative assistant in the Secretary of State's office before his death.

KEFAUVER'S RIVAL IS STILL CHEERFUL

Estes In One Day Becomes Demo Man To Beat

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — In something under 24 hours Estes Kefauver has become the man to beat in the struggle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

His smashing victory in Tuesday's Minnesota primary, on top of his earlier New Hampshire triumph, may not have been a knockout blow to Adlai E. Stevenson. But it certainly—at this stage—put the 1952 nominee away behind on points.

Stevenson himself acknowledged in Chicago, "I am no longer the front-runner."

The election also spotlighted dramatically the value of personal contacts in winning a contest at the polls—casting doubt on the opinion of political figures right up to President Eisenhower that the job can be done as well by remote control.

Kefauver pumped hands as zealously in Minnesota as if he had been campaigning 50 years before television had been invented—or before the Stevenson-style in-and-out motor dash. And, by golly, the folks in Minnesota liked it as well as they did in New Hampshire.

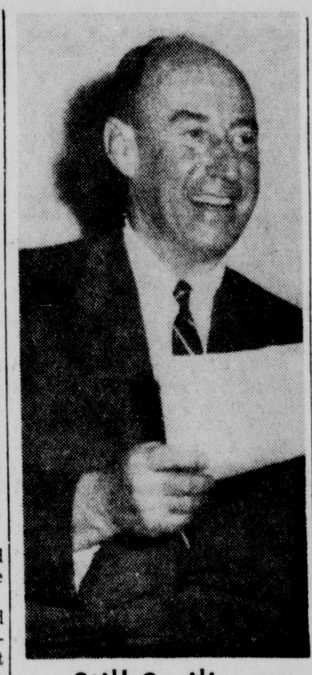
This is a now-demonstrated fact that will get study from those who hold with Eisenhower that the days of whistle-stopping are over. The President himself, however, said as late as Wednesday's news conference that campaign travel plans haven't even been discussed with him so far.

There were these other seemingly clearcut results of the Minnesota primary:

Others' Hopes Rise

1. The hopes of other possible Democratic candidates rose as Stevenson's dipped. Everyone knew Kefauver might well be knocked out at the nominating convention no matter how many primaries he won. This is pretty much what happened in 1952 to the Tennessee senator, who has never aroused much enthusiasm with the powers-that-be in the Democratic party. So the supporters of New York's Averell Harriman were happy with the Minnesota result, though Harriman himself said his status as a "not active" candidate was unchanged. And Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) decided to go back to Texas for a spell and see if there really was a popular demand for him as a favorite son candidate. Some Democrats looked for a big rush of contenders in the weeks ahead.

2. Apart from the personal contest between Kefauver and Stevenson, there may have been some sort of revolt among Minnesota voters—though there was a big argument as to who was revolting against what. Many Democrats saw a farm belt rebellion against administration farm policies and contended this led many Republican voters to vote for one of the Democratic candidates.



Still Smiling

Appearing undismayed by his political setback in Minnesota, Adlai Stevenson reads a statement at his Chicago press conference. (AP Wirephoto).

Adlai Comments: Minnesota Only 'First Round'

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson declared Wednesday that, "I have no intention of withdrawing and I will go to the convention seeking the nomination."

But he added, "I am no longer the front-runner."

The Democratic presidential candidate, appearing somewhat tired but still cheerful after watching results of the Minnesota primary, gave this flat announcement of his future plans at a news conference.

He said that Sen. Estes Kefauver had "won the first round" in soundly trouncing him in Tuesday's presidential primary election in Minnesota.

He Will "Work Harder"

But he added he is now prepared to "work harder than ever" for the nomination.

"I ask my kind friends everywhere to redouble their efforts, too," he said.

Stevenson said he had not "promised the moon" and that he never will.

Stevenson told the packed news conference he might have done better if he had spent more time campaigning.

"We traveled too fast. We had too many meetings. It would have been better to take a slower pace—cover the same ground in some time," he said.

Smilingly, he quipped:

"No doubt handshaking develops an identity between the shakee and the shaker."

"This may not be the way to win elections, but it is, in my opinion, the way to conduct a political campaign in a democracy," he added.

Stevenson said the Minnesota results should be more discouraging to President Eisenhower than to Stevenson. He apparently was referring to the heavier vote on the Democratic side.

Dulles Returns Pleased

Secretary Says Defense Pacts Offer Shield

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned from a 19-day Asian tour Wednesday and declared the defensive alliances around the world provide a shield behind which free nations can build economic and political strength.

Dulles said that he was happy to see that the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization is "growing in vigor." He said the SEATO "and other security arrangements are providing a shield against armed aggression behind which independence and economic and social welfare are growing."

Dulles left the airport immediately for the White House to report to President Eisenhower on his tour of ten Asian nations.

Dulles was closeted with the President for about a half an hour. He left the White House without talking to newsmen.

The secretary will meet with the President, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and 28 Democratic and Republican leaders of the House and Senate for a full-dress White House briefing Thursday morning.

Met By Envoys

He was met at the airport by diplomats from all the SEATO nations — Britain, Pakistan, the Philippines, Australia, Thailand, France and New Zealand. In addition, ambassadors of three Asian nations not in SEATO but linked to the U. S. through mutual security treaties were on hand. They were the ambassadors from Japan, Nationalist China and the Republic of Korea.

Dulles refused to answer any question for newsmen who were anxious to know his reactions to a whole series of major events which occurred around the world during the 19 days since he left Washington.

Chief of these was the sensational downgrading of Josef Stalin by the new leadership of Soviet Russia.

Other inquiries centered on the worsening situation between Israel and the Arab states and the controversy between Britain, Turkey and Greece over the Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

Dulles will have to turn to these problems as quickly as possible but it did not seem that he would be able to do much about them for several days.

Indiana Entry Is Considered By Kefauver

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver said Wednesday he will discuss in San Francisco Thursday the matter of entering Indiana's presidential primary.

He is to meet there with his national committee chairman, F. Joseph Donohue.

The Tennessee senator, who Tuesday won most of Minnesota's Democratic presidential convention votes, would say only that his entrance into the Indiana primary "is under consideration." His filing deadline is one week away.

He earler announced that he would enter the June 5 Montana presidential primary—this state's first in 30 years.

Of his Minnesota victory over Adlai Stevenson, Kefauver said: "It is very significant, the number of independents and Republicans who are joining the Democratic ranks, I think largely as a revolt against the administration's farm program."

Kefauver, who flew to Great Falls from Minnesota, spent a busy day conferring with party, agricultural labor and business leaders. After a dinner address, Kefauver was scheduled to fly to California.

FAIR TO CLOUDY IS PREDICTION

Nebraska was to have generally fair skies in the east and partly cloudy weather in the western portion of the state Thursday after light rain and snow fell over the state early Wednesday.

Hastings had .31 of an inch of precipitation Wednesday and Stromsburg reported .33 of an inch. Light rain was also reported at Osceola, Tecumseh, York, Sterling, Gresham, Nebraska City, Ashland, Syracuse, Omaha and Lincoln.

Grand Island had .8 of an inch of wet snow, "the wettest snow in history," according to observers.

The state was expected to have temperatures reaching the 40's in the northeast Thursday to near 60 in the southwestern section of Nebraska.

Wednesday's temperatures were generally in the upper 40's and lower 50's.

THE SECOND BOX OF OINTMENT

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

(The thirty-second chapter in The Star's Lenten series.)

By APRIL OURSLER ARMSRTONG

It was now the time of the Passover, the greatest of all celebrations in Isreal.

From the sea and irom the caravan roads of mountains and deserts, by ships and camels and walking barefoot, travelers by the thousands turned their faces to Jerusalem. This was the great Passover Feast in memory of the night centuries before when the Lord destroyed the first-born children of the Egyptians who had conquered the Jews, and passed over the houses of the children of Israel.

Soft spring lay over the city, and the cuckoo sang and the new little flowers bloomed. But in the council room of the Pharisees and the high priests there was only cruelty and hate.

"What will we do with this Jesus? He works many miracles, and the people love Him and believe in Him. And if we leave Him alone, soon everyone will believe in Him, and the Roman rulers will come to us and take away our jobs and our power and our wealth because we did not stop this One called Jesus!"

Caiphas, the high priest, stroked his long and perfumed beard.

Mary knelt and lifted one foot of Jesus and began to rub His instep with the ointment.

"You know nothing!" he said, with a scheming smile. "It is better for one Man to die, than for a whole nation . . ."

Six days before the Passover, Jesus and the twelve came to Bethany.

For the past weeks the disciples had grown steadily more frightened. They had heards whispers of the plots to kill Jesus when the Master came to Jerusalem. They

America Proposes 30,000-Square Mile Disarmament 'Test Area'

Inspection Teams Would Be Employed

. . . In Pilot Scheme

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — The United States Wednesday proposed to open up to 30,000 square miles of American and Soviet territory to a pilot scheme of disarmament control.

The project was offered to the five-power U. N. Disarmament subcommittee here by Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament.

The American proposal was disclosed immediately after Western diplomats outlined terms of a cautious three-stage British-French plan to cut the world's arms and armies and eventually to ban nuclear warfare.

Endless Talking

Stassen's offer of a pilot experiment in international disarmament and inspection was designed to replace apparently endless talking on the subject with concrete actions.

The proposal envisages between 20,000 and 30,000 square mile chunks of American and Soviet territory being opened to inspection teams comprising representatives of the five powers on the U. N. subcommittee. They are the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

Stassen suggested the demonstration areas include at least one seaport, an airfield, a railroad terminal and some nonsecret military installations, facilities and units.

Aerial Photos

The five-power teams would be empowered to carry out tests of port control, make aerial pictures and various forms of ground inspection and then would report back their findings to the subcommittee.

Stassen also proposed the five subcommittee countries exchange technical missions to study disarmament control and inspection methods. Under the plan the five-power teams would visit each country with the aim of devising an effective system of checking disarmament processes. The teams would not need to delve into "sensitive" or "secret" information, he said.

U.S. Guerrilla Outfit Trains In Germany

. . . Behind-Lines Unit

BAD TOELZ, Germany (AP) — The U. S. Army Wednesday removed security wraps from a hush-hush American airbone guerrilla outfit trained in the Bavarian Alps for dangerous behind-the-lines wartime duty.

Only general and fragmentary facts have been released previously on the cloak-and-dagger mission of the 10th Special Forces Group Airborne.

The members of the outfit, which the Army emphasizes is "in no way a political weapon of the United States," are taught the perilous functions of airborne guerrillas.

In the event of war, they would be parachuted behind enemy lines, where their main job would be to train partisans in the art of "sudden destruction and silent death" against their common enemy.

Here in some of the most rugged country in the world, the men are taught how to ambush, storm enemy prisons and raid and destroy supplies and installations behind the lines.

Their minds are sharpened and their muscles toughened in a grueling training program supervised by Army experts. They learn survival, foreign language, judo, battlefield surgery, radio communications and guerrilla tactics.

The group boasts that its commandos are "the most versatile soldiers in the world's most modern army."

"The activities we engage in are not brand new," said Col. William E. Eckman, commanding officer of the group. "Although they are ages old, they are relatively unknown."

Ike Urges Moderation In Integration Dispute

President Terms Farm Bill Passed By Senate Neither Good Nor Workable

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared Wednesday that "all the South" should show some progress toward racial desegregation.

"I am for moderation, but I am for progress," he told his news conference.

He raised this plea:

"Let's don't try to think of this as a tremendous fight that is going to separate Americans and get ourselves in a nasty mess.

"Let's try to think of how we can make progress."

Eisenhower discussed racial matters four times in a half-hour of questions and answers which also produced these presidential comments:

Wants "Good" Farm Bill

FARM—He thinks the bill the Senate passed Monday night is neither good nor workable. He hopes the Senate-House conference on farm legislation "may write a good bill, and one which can really be helpful to the farmer."

POLITICS—The results of the Minnesota presidential primary of Tuesday, in which the Democratic vote doubled that of the Republicans "is something to be studied and see exactly what it does mean."

MIDDLE EAST—"We would believe that any outbreak of major hostilities in the region would be a catastrophe to the world. We never give up trying to bring every peaceful influence we can in settling these quarrels around the world."

Eisenhower declined to attempt an analysis of the Minnesota vote, when told Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) had said it indicated a revolt against the administration's farm program.

The President did say the Senate bill, which emerged with many special provisions opposed by the administration, "would bury farmers under surpluses that they couldn't stand, and it would break the prices still further."

The first mention of domestic segregaiton issues came with a request for word on how Eisenhower felt "about Negroes being brought to trial for refusing to ride the Montgomery buses."

Eisenhower said, in effect, that he was not a lawyer.

He added: "As I understand it, there is a state law about boycott, and it is under that kind of thing that these people are being brought to trial."

Larkin Withdraws From Solon Race

State Sen. Jack Larkin of Omaha Wednesday withdrew his filing for re-election.

He announced recently he was withdrawing from the race because of family health reasons.

As Larkin withdrew, another candidate filed in his District, the eighth. The new filing was for John G. Quinn of Omaha.

David D. Tews of Norfolk filed Wednesday for nomination to the Legislature from the 15th District.

ICC Won't Act On Route Change

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Interstate Commerce Commision Wednesday refused to interfere with the action of the Union Pacific Railroad in changing the route of its through passenger service between Omaha, Neb., and Chicago.

The Railway Labor Executive's Assn. asked the commission to force the Union Pacific to return to the old route. It alleged that some 1,250 employes of the Chicago and North Western railroad were adversely affected by the change.

In October, 1955, the Union Pacific terminated a long-term arrangement for trains to operate over North Western trackage between Omaha and Chicago. It obtained rights for these trains over the Milwaukee Railroad.

The ICC said the arrangement did not involve an interchange of equipment, requiring ICC approval, as charged by the union group, and asserted that the group's complaint was "legally insufficient" because it failed to set forth any facts which would tend to show a violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Pickup Truck Damaged In City Train Collision

Minor damage to a pickup truck resulted Wednesday night when it was in collision with a slow-moving CB&Q switch engine pulling 19 cars.

The accident occurred on A at 5th street. Driver of the truck, Harry A. White, 40, of 200 West A, was not injured. He was going west on A at the time.

AF Reveals 2nd 5,000-Mi. Missile Plan

WASHINGTON (INS)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles Wednesday unveiled a second project to build a 5,000-mile inter-continental ballistics missile. He said "we know" that the Soviets are emphasizing similar ocean-spanning rockets.

The second U. S. ICBM is to be developed by the Denver, Colo., division of Martin Aircraft Co., and will be named "Titan." The first, "Atlas," is being built by Convair at San Diego.

Quarles also revealed that Douglas Aircraft Co. at Santa Monica, Calif., is developing a 1,500-mile rocket. The Army and Navy have a parallel project for a similar missile at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

The Air Force secretary said the long range rocket projects are being given the "highest priority."

He continued: "While it is our estimate that we are ahead of the Soviets in the guided missiles field as a whole, we know that they have emphasized the ballistic line and we would not be surprised to find close competition in this field."

Here, Also

STAFFORD, England (AP)—Georgi Malenkov made reference to the Iron Curtain on a visit to an electric plant here.

As the Soviet ex-Premier stepped into an elevator and the iron gates closed, he said:

"I see you have an Iron Curtain here."

When everyone aboard laughed, Malenkov added:

"We have discarded it."

Delinquency Trial Method Up To Parents

Parents can insist on a trial by jury or formal hearing for their children in a delinquency case, but most prefer an informal hearing with a judge presiding, County Attorney Elmer Scheele said.

Scheele, Policewoman Mrs. Hulda Roper, and Dr. Frank Court, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, discussed "The pros and cons of A Juvenile Court" Wednesday evening at Love Library.

The panel discussion, moderated by Dr. James Reinhardt, professor of criminology at the University of Nebraska, was sponsored by Association for Childhood Education. Mrs. Nancy Campbell was in charge of the program.

The few formal hearings in delinquency cases have been detrimental to the children involved, Mrs. Roper said.

"Both the children and their parents get a fair chance at an informal hearing," she said.

"Children in trouble are usually those who are over-indulged or extremely neglected," Mrs. Roper said. Hoverer, she said, there are many causes for juvenile delinquency.

Blame On Parents

Dr. Court said that some blame should be placed on the parents but that some children are naturally unwilling to adjust to society regardless of the parents actions.

It is also very important to channel the children's attention in the right direction, Scheele said.

Dr. Court and Mrs. Roper expressed concern over the present system of rotating the judges in the courts every year.

The judge does not get to know the case workers and their particular qualities nor does he realize when the same children keep coming back, Mrs. Roper said.

Dr. Court said that one of the four district judges has had less recurring delinquencies than the other three.

"The Judges are sincere, honest men concerned with the welfare of the child," Mrs. Roper said.

She said that all cases involving children, including adoption and divorce, should be handled by the same judge.

Beatty Will Head Baum's Campaign

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Ted Baum of Scottsbluff, and lone candidate so far to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, named R. H. Beatty, North Platte attorney, as his campaign chairman.

Baum said Nebraska needed a broadened tax base, adding that "taxes are the major issue in the Nebraska gubernatorial race."

Referring to four phases of the economy, Baum said the farmers, small business men and labor are being pinched. That leaves he added, "only big business in the clear."

Dr. N. Richard Miller, president of the county society, will preside at the banquet.

Playboy Gets Prison Term, No Sympathy

NEW YORK (AP) — Playboy Robert H. Schlesinger got 5 to 10 years in prison Wednesday for an oil stock swindle netting him $330,000 nearly half of which he blew on jewels for actress Linda Christian.

Judge John A. Mullen brushed aside a mercy plea, tabbing Schlessinger as "one of the deepest-dyed, premeditated thieves that I have met in some time." The penalty was the maximum.

Schlesinger, 38, is the son of the Countess Mona Bismarck, the former Mona Williams, who inherited 12 million dollars in 1953 from her second husband, Harrison Williams.

Schlesinger skipped out after the swindle and for six months officers pressed an international search for him. Finally, he returned voluntarily from a Canadian hideout last December.

Defense Department Set For Reforms

Hoover Ideas Are Heeded

85% Acceptance Of Recommendations

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson reported Wednesday his department subscribed to 85 per cent of the 332 recommendations made for it by the Hoover commission.

He gave the numbers in a report to President Eisenhower, who had spoken earlier in the day at his news conference of the achievements of the commission, headed by former President Hoover.

The commission undertook a broad study of how to improve operations of the government, in which the Defense Department is the biggest single agency. Both Eisenhower and Wilson praised the commission's work.

Different Methods

However, Wilson said that in some instances, "we have felt it advisable to use different methods to obtain the same goals."

Wilson told the President that the Hoover recommendations fell into four main categories. The secretary's report to the President revealed that the Pentagon rejected basic recommendations in two of the four groups.

Specifically, Wilson rejected a commission finding that better teamwork and more effective management could be achieved at the Pentagon if offices of five of the present nine assistant secretaries of defense were abolished and their responsibilities given to the remaining four with added authority.

Some Objections

Under this same category, Wilson also rejected the recommendation that a high-level civilian be appointed to "hold a tighter rein" over planning and review of military requirements.

Wilson explained his objections by saying that the huge Defense Department has only 10 vice presidents whereas some industry organizations have up to 90.

Wilson also said that co-ordination of military requirements planning could not be achieved through "exercise of arbitrary authority at the top."

The defense secretary said he shared the commission view that military supplies and services could be better managed. But Wilson opposed the creation of a new agency such as recommended by the commission to take over administration of the supply business for all of the military services.

On this point Wilson said he believed the objectives could be achieved through his existing organization.

Youngest LAFB Crew Chief

A.1.C Kenneth Miller, 19-year-old B-47 crew chief at the Lincoln Air Force Base, examines one of the engines on "his" plane. He is the base's youngest crew chief.

19-Year-Old Is Responsible For B-47's Care And Feeding

The youngest crew chief at the Lincoln Air Force Base is 19-year-old A.1C. Kenneth Miller of the 343rd Bomb Squadron.

Miller, from Lancaster, O., is responsible for keeping his $3.5 million B-47 jet bomber in top operating condition. He is solely responsible for the servicing and the maintenance of his plane, and wherever that plane goes he goes.

His job compares with that of a civilian crew chief except that civilians are usually responsible for any plane brought to them and do not stick with one plane. The average civilian airline crew chief is much older and has many years experience with his company.

But the operation of the Strategic Air Command requires younger men — men who are able to fly at high altitudes and speeds in their assigned aircraft.

Miller attended a six-month school in Amarillo, Tex., during which he learned every phase of operation of the B-47. He studied engine maintenance, hydraulic systems, electronic systems, landing gear apparatus, steering mechanism and thousands of other small intricate systems of the craft.

He periodically attends refresher courses that keep him informed of latest developments on his aircrafts.

Miller does not actually perform the maintenance work, but leaves that for the many specialists trained for each particular phase of the plane's constuuction. But the day before a flight he must check every part on the plane and detect any flaws or needed repairs.

And again immediately before takeoff he must once again check each part and make sure that any repairs done were accomplished correctly.

The steering mechanism and radar units are then checked by the pilot and copilot and the plane is finally ready for takeoff. The crew chief must accompany his plane so he once again can inspect it when it arrives at its destination.

Employes Buy McKelvie Co. Stock Control

The sale of 3,750 shares of McKeivie Publishing Company stock to the company's "Employe's Profit Sharing Trust' and 15 key employes at $104.08 per share has been approved by the Lancaster County Court.

The $390,300 transaction, as authorized by the court, is being handled by the executors of the Sam R. McKelvie estate under the provisions of his will.

An executor said the 3,750 shares held by Mr. McKelvie, former Nebraska governor, rancher and publisher, who died Jan. 6, represented 51 per cent of the company's stock, of which 7,315.5 shares were outstanding. The remaining outstanding shares are owned by employes and former employes, he said.

Value of the stock approved by the Internal Revenue Service, was determined on the basis of a formula set out in the McKelvie will.

Net assets of the company, which publishes the Nebraska Farmer and Colorado Farmer and Rancher, were determined at $1,048,107.32. Net profits of the company during the past 10 years averaged about $58,825 annually.

Under options provided by the McKelvie will, 2,313 shares will be sold to the employes profit sharing trust and the remaining shares to key employes.

Key employes purchasing stock are Glenn Buck, 556 shares; Carl Deitemeyer, 100; Lee Hendy, 50; Tom Hickey, 100; Burnett Roberts, 100; Duncan Sowles, 100; Marvin Russell, 97; Laurence Buller, 20; Carl Carlson, 17; James Austin, 17; Al Sweetman, 100; Bob Hopkins, 30; Homer Fine, 30; William Rolfsmeier, 20; and Roger V. Dickeson, 100.

Buck succeeded McKelvie as president of the company.

Mr. McKelvie provided in his will that the purchase contract must provide for a $100,000 down payment with the balance due in 10 annual installments.

The McKelvie estate, after extinguishment of life interests, is to create the "Sam and Martha McKelvie Foundation," with one-half of its income to be used to assist students in the University of Nebraska's college of agriculture and the other half to be used for students in political economy in any college.

Parker Undergoes New Mental Tests For State's Case

Darrel F. Parker is being examined by Dr. Don C. Fitzgerald, chief of paychological services at the Lincoln State Hospital, for the Lancaster County Attorney's office, The Star learned Wednesday.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele, who announced last week that psychiatric and psychological examinations were being made of Parker "for possible use at the trial," would not comment on the subject of the new tests.

Parker has also been examined by an Omaha psychiatrist, Dr. C H. Farrell, for the state prior to his first degree murder trial set for April 9. Parker has pleaded innocent to the charge in connection with the Dec. 14 strangulation slaying of his wife, Nancy.

Mushrooming Plan

Eighteen states, describing themselves as producers of 35 per cent of the nation's meat, have opened a conference at Omaha through their representatives, contemplating an attack on surplus production by creating greater consumption through education and sales promotion.

The best progress report that can be made of the venture can be wrapped up by saying that a few weeks ago the idea was a germ in the minds of a few individuals. Now it is a subject of major interest in 18 heavy producing states. The spread of the idea has been electric. The least that can be said of it is that it is the most rapidly growing diversion in the food producing industry toward voluntary self-help through modern business methods, proven in other fields. As a test rocket it is of exciting significance.

The simple plan proposes to deduct 10 cents a head on marketed cattle and five cents a head on hogs. The producer foots the bill. The fund will support a national sales campaign.

The innovation is not in the feature of sales promotion. That is a tried and proven function employed by processors and retailers intensively and with demonstrated effect. The novelty of the plan is in the entry of the producer—the introduction into agriculture in general of a new department where heretofore production, management and techniques have been the consuming interest. Perhaps it touches a blind spot which has been plaguing farming. The fortunes of the movement should reveal the answer to that, which is the most important part of this quest.

REA's Make Contribution

The action of the 25 Nebraska rural electric associations this week giving the green light to full Rural Electrification Administration financing of the Tri-County Power and Irrigation district's proposed generating plant at Lexington constitutes a constructive step in the solution of the state's power problem.

While it leaves other problems of supply still to be worked out and does not end all the conflicts of interest which are plaguing the other major public power agencies, it did reflect a return of solidarity among the rural districts together with the re-emergence of original aims, namely lowest cost power, and a spirit of beneficial co-operation with other public power agencies. It also produced a softening effect on the entire inter-agency problem, rendering it more amenable to an early and happy liquidation.

The Rurals' approval opened the door to REA financing of the Tri-County venture at a 2 per cent interest rate, making possible the plant at a cost of something over a million dollars less than the same plant would cost under 3½ per cent financing estimated as the price of non-REA credit. The end result would be power for the Nebraska rurals at 5.34 mills instead of 5.8 mills. At a time of spiralling farm costs otherwise, too much cannot be said for such a welcome economy. It is a commentary on the practical and constructive thinking of the state's REA's.

Nebraska generally will heartily endorse this REA decision and its earnest hopes will be directed toward a favorable sequel when Tri-County takes its financing request to the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington. There is where the enabling decision must be made.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

There was more than meets the eye in that amazing Minnesota primary Tuesday. With the count complete, for all practical purposes—3,204 precincts out of 3,868—the vote stood Kefauver (D) 221,852, Stevenson (D) 171,673—and on the Republican side, with only four fewer precincts in the tabulation, President Eisenhower 185,825, and Knowland 3,001. Kefauver had a sweeping victory over his Democratic rival, the party's presidential nominee in 1952—and in achieving it, he had rolled up nearly 35,000 more votes than the President in an uncontested party primary. If large numbers of Minnesota Republicans moved on into the Democratic primary to vote for Kefauver in order to administer a reverse to Stevenson, they may have overdone it.

★

On the basis of returns in New Hampshire a week ago, and now in Minnesota a week later, with the cards stacked against him, the fact remains that Kefauver has demonstrated that he is the real McCoy, an 18-carat vote-getter. The evidence in some localities in Minnesota, traditionally heavily Republican, did establish there were some Republicans who did desert the ship to vote for Kefauver, apparently in the belief he would be much easier to beat than Stevenson. In one community Kefauver polled more than 300 votes, Stevenson 120, and Eisenhower even fewer, although in 1952 the President had virtually things his own way in the general election. The mystery is that without any apparent coaching or leadership, so many Republicans could be persuaded to enter the Democratic primary in order to insure victory for a man they believed could be beaten more easily than Stevenson. Then there was the element of resentment among Democrats against the organization, including Sen. Humphrey and Gov. Freeman. All in all, it was quite a clam-bake—possibly one which will not be quickly forgotten and certainly one which will lend itself to a thousand interpretations if there be those who care to make that many.

Kefauver Truly Formidable

Combined Democratic vote in the completed count with about 664 precincts yet to come out of a total of 3,868 was 393,525, or nearly double the Republican, where there was no contest and where Republicans can insist Mr. Eisenhower made a great showing without anything to arouse his Republican supporters or work them into a dither. Somehow that is not the most satisfactory explanation. It sounds a little bit hollow. Here was Kefauver piling up 221,000 against the President's 185,000, and the man we are told is an idol with the American people falls short by a sizeable figure of equalling the vote of the tall Tennessean. Not only that but, come November, we doubt any of the 171,000 votes cast for Stevenson are going to turn around and vote for Mr. Eisenhower as against whoever may be nominated by the Democrats.

★

The Republicans may explain that the absence of a contest in Minnesota and the lack of any interest to pull Republican voters to the polls account for the smaller Republican total, but the fact is that Mr. Eisenhower didn't look any too impressive Tuesday. He polled 14,000 more votes in the Republican primary than Stevenson did in the Democratic, with 600-plus precincts yet to come—and he polled 35,000 fewer votes than Mr. Kefauver did in the Democratic primary. This primary in Minnesota seemed to demonstrate one or two other things. There is no place in Midwest political thinking for too moderate or middle-of-the-road candidates. The voters of Minnesota want the opposition to Mr. Eisenhower to strike out straight from the shoulder, to take a positive stand when it comes to farm policy and to other issues. If Stevenson expects to get anywhere with the Democrats, he is going to have to hit harder, and to make the President his target. Sen. Kefauver has pulled no punches. Finally, Sen. Kefauver was the first to make something out of the Dixon-Yates mess, something out of the new partnership Eisenhower has formed in the development of natural resources. Apparently the Democrats like a nominee who hits squarely out and notably is to the left of what is called a middle-of-the-road course.

Falling Upon One's Chin

★

We have the feeling the battle has just begun. Stevenson may satisfy some of the states in the Deep South more than Kefauver—Kefauver may be more acceptable to some of the northern states than Stevenson. And more dust in the skies in the Middle West—an Eisenhower veto of the farm bill—and continuing difficulties out on the farm may make of Mr. Eisenhower a much less formidable candidate than the press paints him.

Neighborly Spirit

The rest of Nebraska will greet Oxford's newest community project with a warm round of applause although it has been billed only as a clean-up day.

It is a little more than that. Recently a major fire wiped out a part of the business section, causing loss and eviction for more than a half dozen establishments. Usually a fire loss and recovery are considered a private matter. But not so at Oxford.

A progress-minded chamber of commerce and a neighborly citizenry made it public business. The community is turning to with all available equipment and manpower to help the losers get re-established. The town of 1,500 does not wish to lose a single business or service, and its people like to relieve a neighbor in distress.

The Oxford activity is so expressive of Midwest character which knows how to be neighborly and likes to practice it. In pitching in the way it is doing, it is making the most of an opportunity to become one of the select communities which at one time or another has pulled itself out of trouble. It is a safe bet that Oxford will never go down nor that any of its fire-hit businessmen will ever wish to leave such a warm-hearted place. The town has lost by fire, but in the aftermath it is plain to see that its net gain will be great in other factors.

A Ho-Hum World

The Navy has announced that it has worked out the design for a rocket capable of launching an earth satellite. Construction is ready to begin and launching time has been set for sometime during the international geophysical year of 1957-58.

The rocket, 75 feet long and less than four feet in width, composed of several sections each of which drop away after they have completed their work, will be distinctive in that it will lack wings for buoyancy and steering. Direction will be achieved by switching the angle of the rocket stream.

It was a modest announcement that said two amazing things—one that a new principle of flight had been achieved, the other that man has now progressed to the point that he can establish earth satellites. The rush of discovery is growing too rapid. Its significance is being lost on an innovation-surfeited people. The danger in it is not something resulting in the invastion of outer space but in the tendency of humankind not to be stirred to a study of the ethics such a radical diversion calls for.

Easy Answer

Mayor Gizo Takayama of Kyoto, Japan is a believer in two things. He thinks his job is to promote the peace of mind of his citizens and he thinks that the United States is the best place to find how to do it. That is why he sends a representative to the United States every year to find answers to problems and report back.

We understand his most recent directive was to find out how we eliminated the rattle and bounce of our street cars—a cause of disturbed feeling in Kyoto. The answer to that one is easy. We eliminated the noise by eliminating the street cars. Next question please.

Dulles Brothers Exchange Words

WASHINGTON — The brothers Dulles usually function so well together personally that most people forget there are two Dulles brothers. John Foster Dulles, the secretary of state, is continually in the headlines—magazine or otherwise; his brother Allen is not.

Allen Dulles, head of Central Intelligence, operates an agency which tries to stay out of the headlines, has the job of reporting to the State Department and the Pentagon on the strength of Russia and her satellites, plus the danger of war any place in the world.

Recently the Dulles brothers had an unpublicized clash.

Allen went to see his brother John with an assistant, and during the course of their visit, told older brother John that he thought he was wrong in making speeches that Russia is losing out in the cold war.

John Foster looked displeased.

But the younger Dulles continued to reprove his older brother. Foster's speeches, he said, had made it appear that the United States was not in trouble. On the contrary, the Russians were making headway and had us in real trouble.

Foster looked flustered. Finally he told his younger brother that his job was to evaluate and report on intelligence, not advise the secretary of state on his speeches.

NEW INTERIOR SECRETARY?

Both the White House and confirming senators would do well to take a good look at the law practice of Clarence Davis, undersecretary of the Interior, before, if, and when he is appointed secretary of the Interior to replace "Generous Doug" McKay.

When Davis was active in the law firm he was the partner who handled the affairs of the Consumers Public Power District, a state agency created by the Legislature to handle Nebraska's public power. Since then, the youngest member of the firm, Richard D. Wilson, is handling Consumers Public Power business.

However, Consumers Public Power is about to receive a contract from the U.S. government to set up one of the highly important nuclear reactors, which might cause some conflict-of-interest embarrassment.

Note—Davis played an important part in awarding the famous Al Sarena mining claims to the MacDonald family in the Rogue river National Forest after Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, Democrat, had refused. Since the award, several million board feet of Douglas fir has been chopped down, but not a ton of ore has been mined. It was on the plea that the mining claim contained gold ore of commercial quality that part of the Rogue River National Forest was sold.

THE NIXON WRITE-IN

Sen. Styles Bridges, most powerful figure in New Hampshire politics, described the Nixon write-in vote as "100-½ per cent spontaneous." He also said rather modestly that he and Gov. Lane Dwinell had urged New Hampshire voters to keep the two members of the Eisenhower-Nixon team.

Behind the Nixon write-in was also some adroit backstage maneuvering by Murray Chotiner, Nixon's astute California campaign manager who recently has been spending his time with the GOP National Committee in Washington, and who say in advance how significant would be a big write-in for Nixon.

Cattleman Gillespie And A Broken Leg

Sometimes I think there are too many women in America.

The thought has been coming on a long time, but dropped into focus only the other night. There was a dinner party, and the conversation got to going on military training and prisoners of war and such things, and there was a general head-shaking about the rough deal this country's boys are getting.

All this brought to mind the recent furore over some hard-boiled practice among Air Force and other recruits dealing with what to expect in case of capture by an unscrupulous enemy. That brought on memory of the stir in some circles about the soldiers' code that had been adopted a few weeks earlier requiring the lads to resist brainwashing.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mulling it all over later, all at once I remembered Roy Gillespie's broken leg. Gillespie was a gentle-mannered old cattleman who, one day about 10 years ago set out to ride horseback over about 40 miles of rough country in northern Arizona to another ranch. His age was in the neighborhood of 60 then, but neither he nor his family considered the ride anything unusual.

It was, though. About halfway between ranches a rattlesnake buzzed in a creek bottom and Gillespie's horse threw him among the boulders. The fall broke his leg.

They found him two days later, five miles from his home ranch and still crawling. He had the snake's rattles in his pocket—he had killed it with a rock before he started the long trip home. They carried him that last five miles on a barn door—the country was too rough for wheels. The only complaint the old fellow made was because he had not been found two miles sooner; he'd gotten his clothes wet crawling through a creek back there.

☆ ☆ ☆

I saw him six weeks later, after he had just got back from making that same 40-mile ride, on the same horse, and again alone. Being more on the soft side myself by virtue of city life, I remarked how it took a real tough man to do what he had done and come out in the clear.

He looked at me in surprise. "Son," he said, "what'd you expect me to do? Crawlin's better'n dyin'." Then he grinned. "Besides, it pleasures a man to know he's got the insides to beat the game."

"It pleasures a man—."

I liked the phrase. Old Man Gillespie had lived the kind of life that taught him there can be pleasure, of a sort, in a man's proving himself superior to strain and stress.

Not Clear Sailing For McKay At Home

WASHINGTON — The perils inherent in Washington attempts to call the signals in state political contests are being illustrated afresh by Republican problems in the Oregon senatorial contest.

Senator Wayne Morse, the Oregon Republican who turned Democrat in 1954, is the GOP's prime target this fall in the fight to control the Senate. The Eisenhower administration first put pressure on Governor Paul Patterson to make the race, but the governor, after acceding to their pleas, succumbed to a heart attack. It was then arranged that Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, a former Oregon governor, should assume the task.

McKay's departure from Washington for the new crusade was announced suddenly and dramatically. The impression was given to the press here — and to McKay — that all ranks within the state would close around him and nothing remained but the attack on Morse.

☆ ☆ ☆

It now transpires that someone in the White House or Republican national committee forgot to do his homework.

Oregon sources report that when McKay landed from his plane at Portland, he found several state leaders had been completely caught off base by the announcement. And he found his selection had not been cleared either with the several aspirants for the nomination who emerged after Patterson's death, or with their principal backers.

In hasty conferences, one of the two principal GOP contenders quit. The other, Philip Hitchcock, did not. The time has now passed for him to withdraw and he is, in fact, busily campaigning for the nomination to oppose Morse in November.

GOP embarrassment is evident. Defeat of Secretary McKay for the nomination would represent an unthinkable blow to the Eisenhower administration. McKay is more than a cabinet member; he is the symbol of the Democratic cry of "giveaway," of the Eisenhower partnership power and Tidelands oil policies.

☆ ☆ ☆

Yet within the state, Hitchcock is widely and well-known as a church leader, a state senator and a Republican in old McNary tradition, which is very much the moderate-progressive philosophy the President himself now espouses.

Too much heat or the too lavish expenditures of funds to get Hitchcock out of the way might prompt him to the cry of underdog — a cry whose potency in politics Senator Estes Kefauver has been proving.

It would be an upset if McKay is beaten. Most politicians expect him to prevail, but there are warning voices that a Hitchcock victory could happen if he campaigns hard enough.

The struggle and the hard feelings are, of course, agreeable to Senator Morse. He does not admit it, but some of his supporters are of the opinion that the best break he ever got was when McKay moved in to push Hitchcock out of the picture.

Their reasoning is that Morse is at his best on the all-out offensive against a candidate who is the exact opposite of all he stands for. McKay fills this bill.

THE SECOND BOX OF OINTMENT

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

had heard Jesus Himself tell them that He would suffer.

Jesus had said: 'The Son of Man shall be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes and to the ancients. And they shall mock Him and spit on Him and scourge Him and Kill Him. And the third day He shall rise again." Terrifying words from the Master they loved!

Still, as the days passed, the disciples began to breathe easier. Jesus seemed neither worried nor alarmed. By the time they all sat for dinner together in Simon the Leper's house, the disciples had practically forgotten their fears. Martha served the dinner, an excellent dish of braised lamb and garden vegetables. And with them was Lazarus, eating as heartily and as happily as if he had never been buried for three days — living proof of the Master's power.

Mary, the other sister, was mysteriously absent.

Suddenly she came through the doorway and knelt at the feet of Jesus — just as years ago the red-haired woman in the Pharisee's house had done. In Mary's hands she carried an alabaster vase. In it was a pound of spikenard, a very expensive ointment. When Lazarus had died the sisters had bought this ointment for his burial, and had spent every penny of their savings for it.

Silence fell as the guests watched Mary.

She knelt and lifted one foot of Jesus and began to rub His instep and toes with the ointment. Then she took the other foot and rubbed it too with the sweet-smelling paste. And then, again like the other woman before her, she dried the Master's feet with her long dark hair.

Then Mary broke the alabaster jar and poured the rest of the ointment on the top of the Master's head and rubbed it in with strong, slender fingers.

☆ ☆ ☆

Judas Iscariot could no longer be still. With a scowl and a sigh of impatience he whispered to Martha:

"What a waste of this ointment! Your sister could have sold it all, and given it — uh — to the poor!"

And all at table, except Jesus Himself, began to mutter among themselves, and throw dark glances toward Mary. But the darkest glances of all came from Judas.

For a long time Judas Iscariot had been the treasurer of the apostles. He kept the purse, and handed out the money for the few things they needed to buy. But Judas cared more for the money than he did for Jesus, or for the poor. Judas would actually have snatched the alabaster box and what little was left of the ointment from Mary's hand, if Jesus had not spoken and stopped him.

"Let her alone," commanded Jesus, "that she may keep it against the day of My burial."

The apostles fell into shocked silence, and Jesus continued:

"Why do you trouble this woman? For she has wrought a good work upon Me. For the poor you have always with you, but Me you have not always.

"And she, in pouring this ointment upon My body, has done it for My burial.

"I say to you, wherever this Gospel shall be preached in the whole world, that also which she has done shall be told for a memory of her."

Algeria Is West's Trouble Spot

WASHINGTON—In response to great and persistent pressure from France, the United States is giving at least a timid pat of approval to the French effort to suppress the nationalist uprising in Algeria which is more and more taking on the aspect of a major war.

For weeks there has been pulling and hauling inside the State Department over whether this country should give the French at least moral backing in the effort to put down a revolt that has virtually paralyzed Algeria.

It is the familiar American dilemma of having to choose between support for a European ally and, at the same time, seeming to oppose the aspiration of colonial peoples for independence.

Finally, agreement was reached that American Ambassador Douglas Dillon would, in a speech in Paris, indicate the desire of Washington to maintain the French in Algeria, at least during a transition period.

Dozen of cables have gone back and forth across the Atlantic in an effort to find a formula that would satisfy the French and would not at the same time seem to put the United States irrevocably on the side of western colonialism.

☆ ☆ ☆

While the headlines have played up disorders on the island of Cyprus where the [illegible]sh are seeking to suppress Cypriotes demanding their freedom, a far greater threat to the western position has been shaping up in Algeria.

There are at least 200,000 French troops in Algeria today and the number is being increased by several thousand a week. Over the past week end the French cabinet in Paris announced two more divisions would be transferred from Germany and West Africa to the North African state which, theoretically, is a part of metropolitan France.

Some parallels with Indo-China, where the west suffered a severe setback when French forces were compelled to make large territorial concessions to the Communists to avert catastrophic defeat, are obvious.

The nature of jungle fighting in Indo-China made it all but impossible for French troops trained in fixed position warfare to come to grips with Communist guerillas.

Similarly in Algeria, a relatively small number of rebel bands move in and out of wild mountainous terrain to balk the best-trained French forces.

☆ ☆ ☆

No censorship exists as yet in Algeria comparable to that which kept back the news of the tragic stalemate in Indo-China. The American public was completely unprepared for the shock when Premier Mendes-France in the spring of 1954 agreed to a peace that at least averted the destruction of French divisions in Indo-China.

Although there is no formal censorship, there are restrictions which make it difficult to get the news out of Algiers. That is one reason the full seriousness of the present situation has not been felt in this country. Large areas in Algeria are forbidden to correspondents, since their safety cannot be assured. Land communication between Algerian cities virtually has ceased, except for a few daylight hours. Here, too, the parallel with Indo-China is ominnous.

An American declaration of support for the French in Algeria has its hazards.

☆ ☆ ☆

In Indo-China the United States, after considerable hesitation and delay, gave massive aid to the French. As a consequence, in Southeast Asia the United States was rated as lining up on the side of a colonial power in what was, for most Asians, a war of colonials trying to keep a subject people from independence.

The realization of this came belatedly. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sought to withdraw support from the puppet emperor, Bao Dai, and get the United States back on the anti-colonial side. In the course of a radio-television address during the Indo-China crisis in 1954, he said:

"The United States, as the first colony of modern history to win independence for itself, instinctively shares the aspirations for liberty of all dependent and colonial peoples. We want to help, not hinder, the spread of liberty."

As State Department policy-makers debated the nature of the support which should or should not be given to the French in their present crisis, these words were recalled. It was pointed out that the Algerian nationalists would be likely to remember them, too.

☆ ☆ ☆

With the dispatch of two additional French divisions to Algiers, the French contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be reduced virtually to zero. This creates a dangerous imbalance in Western Europe at the time when strenuous efforts are being made to persuade the West Germans to accelerate their rearmament effort. If NATO is so weak, some West Germans are beginning to argue, might it not be better for Germany to stay out altogether?

It will require many months, even after the full French force of at least 300,000 is assembled in Algeria, to regroup and retrain these troops for guerilla fighting.

In the meantime, it is essential to hold the cities. The fear has grown of a mass uprising spreading so quickly in the disaffected zones of Constantine and Bone that terrible bloodshed would result before French troops could restore order.

While it is only beginning to be faced up to, the Algerian war is a major crisis directly affecting the West not only in the Mediterranean but in Europe.

Building Authority

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Citizens and taxpayers should not be disturbed or misled by the fears expressed by Leo N. Bartunek in the March 12 Star regarding the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority just incorporated by the city and county for the purpose of constructing and operating a joint city-county office building by issuing revenue bonds and leasing office space to city and county for whatever rental is found "necessary" to pay the bonds and the costs of operation and maintenance. He warns that "such authority could increase or raise the rent to any amount they deemed necessary ... without the consent of the taxpayers." He further declares that "the surrender of so much financial power by a sovereign people to the authority is too involved, too dangerous and ... (that their) salary or compensation is still a matter of unlimited conjecture."

These fears of too great financial power and excessive costs to the taxpayers are entirely groundless. They fail to take into proper account the safeguards provided. No bonds can be issued without the approval of a separate majority of the voters of both the city and the entire county. Even after a bond issue has been approved by the voters, no bond can be sold until the joint city-county building "has been leased by the authority for a period extending beyond the last maturity of the bonds. The authority is very properly authorized to increase the rent charged the city and county but only in case it is found "necessary" to meet the bond payments and the costs of operation and maintenance. The city and county are free at any time to amend the articles of incorporation creating the authority "provided no such amendment shall impair the obligation of any bond or other contract."

Finally, these powers of the corporation, the building authority, are to be exercised by a commission of five members appointed by the city and county. This will make for unified harmonious control and prompt action instead of a divided control by council and county commissioners, with consequent disagreements, less flexibility, friction and delayed action. As the result of this method of providing for a city-county building, five outstanding, public - spirited citizens have been carefully selected as members of the governing commission because specially qualified for the task by training, public affairs knowledge, and experience, broad outlook and demonstrated ability.

The character of the commission membership is itself a guarantee against any dangerous abuse of its financial powers. Their compensation, if ever "a matter of unlimited conjecture," is so no longer, for they are to receive no compensation except actual expenses incurred outside the city.

Big Middle-East War Would Be 'Catastrophe'—Ike

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared Wednesday that a big war in the Middle East "would be a catastrophe to the world." He declined to disclose at his news conference what plans he has to avert that catastrophe.

Eisenhower discussed the Israeli-Arab crisis as Secretary of State Dulles returned from a three weeks' swing around Asia to resume personal control of the American search for a Middle East peace.

Eisenhower, at least by implication, defended Dulles' frequent absences from Washington against some criticism which has cropped up in the last few weeks. The President said the trips are "onerous burdens" but that they lead to "better understanding" of problems abroad than can be gained through normal diplomatic channels.

Reason For Visits

That, Eisenhower said, is the reason why he himself will meet with the Prime Minister of Canada and the President of Mexico at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., next Monday and why Prime Minister Nehru is coming here in July.

Eisenhower also made these other points on foreign affairs:

1. The Khrushchev-Bulganin leadership in Russia may be repudiating Stalin because they found it necessary to repudiate some of his methods and doctrines in foreign relations and decided to "just go the whole way."

2. The President stands squarely behind the statement made by Ambassador Douglas Dillon in Paris that the United States supports "liberal" French policies for settling North African problems. What this country would like to see, he said, are solutions that are in the "best interests of both sides."

Atheism Vs. Religion

3. The struggle between the free world and the Soviet Communist bloc is basically "atheism against some kind of religion." This point was brought out as Eisenhower talked about his recent meeting with evangelist Billy Graham. The President said Graham understands "that any advance in the world has got to be accompanied by clear realization that man is, after all, a spiritual being."

4. The President would like very much to go to India, as suggested by Graham, but does not see "how you can go to one place and not go" to a dozen others.

Eisenhower discussed the Middle East situation in some detail in response to questions about how seriously he regards it and what he plans to do about it.

"We would believe," he said, "that any outbreak of major hostilities in the region would be a catastrophe to the world.

Oil Holds The Key

"As you know, all of Western Europe has gradually gone to oil instead of coal for its energy, and that oil comes from the Mideast.

"The region is of great, as a matter of fact it is of extra-ordinary, importance to all the free world so that just for material reasons alone we must regard every bit of unrest there as the most serious matter."

He spoke of trying to "make these people" see that "mediation is the true road to their own prosperity" and also of using American "good offices" and influence for peace all over the world.

A reporter reminded Eisenhower that the United States had called for a meeting of the U. N. Security Council to deal with the Middle East crisis. The reporter asked whether the President wants to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to "mediate" the Jewish - Arab controversy. The President replied tersely that "the details of our plan will be published at the proper time."

Ellery Davis, Longtime Local Architect, Dies At Age Of 69

Ellery L. Davis, prominent Lincoln architect, died at an Omaha hospital Wednesday after being hospitalized several months. He was 69.

Mr. Davis

Mr. Davis was a member of the firm of Davis and Wilson, which he founded in 1921. His son, Ellery Hall Davis, is also associated with the firm.

Mr. Davis had been ill for several years, and was partially confined to his home in the 1930s.

He was born in Lake City, Fla. His father was the dean of the College of Arts of the University of Nebraska. Mr. Davis was graduated in 1903 as class valedictorian of Lincoln High School, and received his bachelor of arts degree in 1907 from the University. He received his bachelors in architecture from Columbia University in 1909.

He was with the firm of Berlinghof and Davis in 1910, and was an independent architect from 1910 to 1915 prior to setting up Davis and Wilson.

Mr. Davis was a member of the American Institute of Architects, American Specification Institute, and American Society of Testing Materials. He was also a member of the Round Table and Crucible Club, and was a Scottish Rite Mason and Shriner.

Among the buildings with which he was associated as an architect were the University of Nebraska Coliseum, Stadium, Naval Science Armory, Student Union, Love Library, Ferguson Hall, Selleck Quadrangle, Burnett Hall and Morrill Hall, the State Historical Society building and business buildings Miller & Paine and Gold's department stores, Stuart, Midwest Life and Woodmen Accident Co.

Surviving are his wife, Mary Camile Hall Davis; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Axtell of Omaha; his son, Ellery of Lincoln, who is now in Spain; two brothers, Dr. Edwin Davis of Omaha and Arthur C. Davis, retired vice-admiral and former director of the joint chiefs of staff and former Defense Department official; and three granddaughters.

Basic Value Rule For Tax Valuation Is Used Locally

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur Davis said his office was using the 70 per cent "basic value" rule set out by the state tax commissioner to determine 1956 personal property assessments.

Compliance with this "yardstick," Davis said, should provide a basis of personal property equalization among the counties.

The Lincoln County Board has said the county will ignore the 70 per cent figure and will assess on the same basis as previous years.

One Lancaster County official predicted that non-compliance with the "basic value" guide would only invite "adjustments" by the state board of equalization for those counties.

Two Get Terms On Dyer Act Charges

Norman Junior Orr, 18, from Fort Washington, O., was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment by the Federal District Court after he pleaded guilty to transporting a stolen auto Jan. 26 from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Sutherland, Neb.

Another Dyer Act defendant, Jessie L. W. Jones, 20, of Dexter, N. M., was given a 18-month suspended sentence and was placed on probation for three years.

Jones pleaded guilty to transporting a stolen auto Aug. 30, 1953, from Lincoln to St. Mary's, Kan.

In other proceedings, Federal Judge John W. Delehant appointed Lincoln Atty. Robert Berkshire to represent two Lincoln Air Force Base airmen in connection with a complaint they took and converted government property to their own use.

The airmen Bert R. Shehi, 22, from Bristow, Okla., and Sherman D. Barton of New York, N. Y., have waived preliminary hearing before a U. S. commissioner on a federal complaint they took 2,200 pounds of lead used for balancing planes from the air base and later sold part to an Aurora, Neb., salvage dealer.

Ike Hints He May Veto Ag Bill Unless It's Modified

. . . He Says 'Good' Plan Possible

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Wednesday said the farm bill passed the Senate is unworkable and hinted he may veto the measure unless it is modified.

At the same time, he noted that the legislation still must go through a Senate-House conference committee and said he thought the conferees "may write a good bill."

Mr. Eisenhower's remarks were prompted by a question at his news conference on his analysis of the Minnesota primary where Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), charged there was a voters' "revolt" against the administration farm program.

The President said:

"Now, with respect to the farm problem, I belive that farmers, as well as others, understand that this administration is working hard to produce a program that gives them a hundred per cent of parity in the market place, and if you try to do that hundred per cent parity merely by passing laws to that effect, we are going to pile up trouble that we cannot possibly solve, because it means just piling up of reserves and of surpluses, and the products in which we already are over-supplied.

Helpful

"I believe that the program sent to the hill on this farm problem is comprehensive, helpful, not only helpful today in helping the farmer with his present problem of giving him some profitable way, some income, out of the business of eliminating acres from production, but in the long-term for that man's children and for his children's children, you will have a sound farm program, and you can't possibly have it merely by passing large rigid price support laws and say, 'we will pay this.'

"Iff you would apply this to every product in the country, we would certainly be soon in a very bad hole.

"Now, we are, with respect to that bill as it now stands — I don't think it is a good bill. I don't think it is workable. I think it would bury the farmers under surpluses that they couldn't stand, and it would break the prices still further.

"But I do point out that there is still a conference to go through, and I think those conferees, looking at this thing sensibly, may write a good bill, and one which can really be helpful to the farmer."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), said there are three provisions of the Senate bill to which the President is "unalterably opposed."

Dual Parity

Aiken told a reporter they were the dual parity amendment which would raise many price supports, a separate provision raising dairy supports 10 cents a hundredweight on manufacturing milk, and the section providing 100 per cent parity price for wheat used in the U.S. as food.

However, the so-called two-price wheat proposal is permissive rather than compulsory and could not go into effect this year.

The administration strongly opposes also a last-minute Senate amendment calling for a vast increase in the "set-aside" of surplus. Its effect is to jack up price supports on wheat, cotton and corn to near the 90 per cent of parity level for which Democrats long have fought.

Special Programs Cap Coed Career Meeting At NU

Two special programs will highlight the women's career conference to be held for University of Nebraska coeds Thursday.

The afternoon session will feature a panel discussion of a woman's home, career, community and political life. Mrs. Frances Homer of Cleveland, O., will present a one-woman dramatic show Thursday night.

Mrs. Homer will present a group of character sketches on the theme "Brief Chronicles of Women Today and Yesterday." She has been in the theater since she was 15 and has played leading roles in Tarkington's "Penrod" and O'Neil's "Beyond the Horizon.'

Her program will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Taking part in the panel discussion will be Mrs. Carl Deitemeyer, Mrs. America of 1955; Mrs. Norma VerMaas, Lincoln attorney, and Mrs. Thomas Pansing, president of the Cub Scouts in Lincoln.

Mrs. Frances Vogel, assistant to the associate dean for women, will be panel moderator. The discussion will be held at 4 p.m. in Parlors ABC of the Student Union.

C. S. Beck Again To Seek Office As Attorney General

C. S. Beck, attorney general, announced Wednesday that he will again seek nomination on the Republican ticket for that office. He was appointed in 1950 to fill a vacancy and was elected to regular terms in 1950, 1952, and 1954.

Beck

There had been much speculation that Beck would not be a candidate but would seek a district judgeship from his home district, which includes North Platte. He was also reputed to have been under consideration for justice of the Supreme Court in case Judge Edward Carter were elevated to the U.S. District Court bench.

All speculation was set at rest when he announced that he had sent his filing fee to the treasurer of Lincoln County and will complete his filing as soon as the receipt is returned.

Beck was an assistant in the attorney general's office both before and after World War II, in which he served. He was deputy at the time he was appointed attorney general. Before taking his state office, he was county attorney at North Platte.

Demo Boyle Sees Hard Campaign For State In '56

OMAHA (AP) — Bernard Boyle, Nebraska Democratic National Committeeman, said Wednesday the campaign in the state this year will "be hard, but not dirty—unless the Republicans make it so."

He listed campaign issues in the state as "mismanagement of state properties which resulted in riots and fires at the Penitentiary, increased state taxes, and Gov. Anderson's excessive traveling."

Boyle asserted that the GOP's state campaign goal of $236,870 "should mean to the voting public that (the Republicans) intend to buy the election if possible."

He added that he "was surprised" when the Republican finance committee decided last Sunday to return the $2,500 that Oil lobbyist John Neff of Lexington had handed to GOP State Treasurer Joe Wishart in Wahsington.

PEERY DEFENSE MOVE TO DISMISS CHARGES FAILS

Wesley H. Peery, 31, of 3281 Hitchcock lost a defense move Wednesday in Lancaster District Court for dismissal of the charges of burglary and robbery against him.

Peery's attorneys contended that the County Court judge failed to find probable cause that the offenses alleged had been committed in binding the defendant over to District Court.

District Judge John L. Polk ruled the lower court's finding of "probable cause that the defendant committed the crimes as alleged in each count of the complaint" satisfied the statutory requirements for binding a defendant over for trial.

Peery, on the advice of his attorneys, "stood mute" when arraigned on the charge and Judge Polk entered a plea of not guilty for the defendant and fixed bond at $5,000.

No plea was entered for the defendant in order to preserve his rights and the defense exceptions that the charges against Perry were legally and properly before the court.

Peery was charged in Lancaster County with burglary of the home of Assistant Police Chief E. H. Masters, from which a revolver was taken, and with robbery at the Charles W. Winkler home, both on Jan. 15.

A similar defense move in the Sarpy County District Court earlier this month resulted in a second preliminary hearing for Peery on a rape charge involving a 27-year-old woman at Papillion last Jan. 22.

The Sarpy County attorney dismissed the original complaint after the defense contended a defect in the record and filed a new one against Peery in the Justice of Peace court at Bellevue for another preliminary hearing.

No Contest Plea Made In Robbery

John Paul Menard, 20, of 2334 So. 11th pleaded no contest Wednesday in Lancaster District Court to a robbery charge involving the Dec. 17 stickup of the Short Stop gas station at 2752 O.

The defendant was charged with putting Richard Meetam, station attendant, "in fear" and taking "by force" more than $100 of the station's money.

Judge John Polk found the defendant guilty as charged and deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Two other defendants, Jack Jansen, 19, of 3005 S and Robert Douglas Brown, 18, of 3121 P were similarly charged with robbery, but have not been arraigned in District Court.

2 Youths Plead Guilt In Burglary

Two Lincoln youths, ages 18 and 16, pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to burglary of the Ted Franks home at 7800 A last Feb. 21.

Judge John L. Polk deferred sentence of the two defendants pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

A 17-year-old companion was given a suspended sentence after pleading guilty to the burglary. He was placed on two years' probation.

$96,140 Repair Work Scheduled

COLUMBUS, Neb. — Consumers Board of Directors awarded contracts totaling $96,140 for major repairs and improvements at the Spencer Hydro Plant to the Diamond Engineering Company of Grand Island and Hull Construction Company of Lynch, Neb.

Work planned by the Diamond Engineering Company will total $71,990 and that by Hull Construction Company will amount to $24,150, said W. P. Venable, Consumers superintendent of power supply.

The four-month project at the Niobrara plant near Spencer probably won't start until June, when the water level is normally expected to be low enough for diversion. Eroded places on the dike will be cleaned, backfilled and reinforced with rock. River bed improvements call for concrete aprons for the spillway and tailrace and the construction of four concrete walls.

Frat Puts Wreck On Campus For Safety Reminder

Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity composed of former Boy Scouts, is sponsoring a safe-driving campaign urging University of Nebraska students to drive carefully during spring vacation which starts Saturday noon.

A wrecked late-model automobile has been put on display north of Love Library.

Wade Dorland of Humboldt, past president, said the auto will serve as "a strong reminder to get students to drive safely during vacation."

The car will remain on display until Friday night.

James Hammond Services Friday

Funeral services for James M. Hammond, 74, for many years secretary-treasurer of the Gooch Milling and Elevator Co., will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Westminster Presbyterian Church chapel, the Rev. Frederick Roblee officiating.

Burial will be at Wyuka Cemetery.

Mr. Hammond, who died Tuesday at North Platte, had been secretary-treasurer of Gooch's from 1910 until his retirement in 1952. His Lincoln residence was at 2215 D.

Surviving are his wife, Caroline; two sons; two daughters; and 10 grandchildren.

One 1956 Polio Case Leads To Crediting Salk

Nebraska's low 1956 incidence of reported polio cases — only one case, compared to nine at the same time last year — led Dr. E. A. Rogers to say that Salk anti-polio vaccine may be helping.

Dr. Rogers, the state director of health, said the Salk shots may at least be keeping down the number of cases.

No new cases were reported last week and there has been only one case reported in the state since the first of the year. A year ago there were nine cases on record, with their number increasing.

Dr. Rogers, however, cautioned that polio was considered by health authorities as unpredictable and following no set pattern. Last year, even with nine cases at mid-March, was one of the lightest in the state's records.

Dag 'Peace Mission' Is Proposed By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) —The United States proposed Wednesday night that the U.N. Security Council "as a matter of urgent concern" send Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on a peace mission to the Middle East.

U.S Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge distributed to all other council governments a Western-backed resolution calling on Hammarskjold to undertake a personal survey of the Palestine situation and Arab-Israeli compliance with U.N peace directives.

The American resolution requests the Swedish global diplomat to meet with Arab and Israeli leaders for consideration of measures to reduce tension on the bloody Palestine frontiers.

It asks him to report back to the council within a month.

The Security Council is expected to meet Monday following Lodge's request Tuesday for an urgent meeting of the eleven-nation body on the Middle East crisis.

Hammarskjold privately notified the council member governments he is ready to take off at moment's notice on the projected "mission to the Mid-East" to forge peace between Arabs and Israelis.

Hammarskjold prepared himself for the new trouble-shooting and fact-finding mission in line with his famed journey to Peiping last year to obtain freedom for 15 American fliers jailed by Red China as "spies."

The American resolution, which was drafted after intensive consultations with Britain, France and other western states, expresses "grave concern" over continued unrest in Palestine and warns that the situation "is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security."

'Withdrawal'

The measure calls on Hammarskjold to lay the following points before Arab and Israeli chiefs for maintaining peace in the region:

"Withdrawal of their forces from the armistice demarcation lines.

"Full freedom of movement for (U.N) observers along the armistice demarcation lines and in the demilitarized zones and in the defensive areas.

"Establishment of local arrangements for the prevention of incidents and the prompt detection of any violations of the armistice agreements."

MAX REZEK

Rezek Elected As BPOE 80 Ruler

Max Rezek was elected exalted ruler of the BPO Elks Lodge 80 at its meeting Wednesday night.

He succeeds Max Barrett, who was elected to a three-year term as trustee.

Others elected were Max Pennington, esteemed leading knight; William Quinn, esteemed loyal knight; and George Klein, esteemed lecturing knight.

Ralph Connell, secretary, Dr. Dewey Swanson, tiler, and Leo Logan, treasurer, were all re-elected to their offices.

New Lancaster School District Formation OK

Formation of a new Lancaster County high school-elementary district—designated as No. 159—has been approved by County Superintendent Glenn Turner.

The new district, covering about 30 square miles, was formed from District 83 at Firth, a high school district; elementary school Districts 17, 48, 63 and half of 142 in this county; and District 59 in Gage County.

The other half of District 142 had been transferred to the Hickman high school district previously.

Turner said a board of education for the new district will be elected at a special meeting of the district's voters to be held Monday, April 9, at 8 p.m. in the IOOF Hall at Firth.

The elementary schools in the combined districts will continue present operations until the end of the school year.

Creation of the new district leaves only one rural elementary school in the southeast part of the county, Turner said. It is District 12 at Holland.

The county now has 76 school districts as compared to 82 at the beginning of this year. All mergers and dissolutions have been made by the petition method.

Fremont Liquor Case Guilty Plea Entered

Wilfred N. Neff of Fremont entered a guilty plea before the State Liquor Commission Wednesday to a complaint that beer was sold to a minor on Feb. 25 in his liquor store in Fremont.

Neff appeared at the commission hearing with his attorney and entered the plea before any testimony was taken.

The commission took the matter under advisement and is expected to rule in a few days. The establishment's package license could be suspended or revoked.

Witnesses subpoenaed for the hearing were Donald H. Wieser, 18, Arlington, Neb., and Vern Kendrizk and Lou Semrad, employes of the store.

Iowan AF Pilot Dies Of Exposure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Wednesday night identified two pilots who died from exposure after parachuting into the North Atlantic from an F-89 jet interceptor.

They are Capt. James Francis Hogan, 30, of Iowa City, and 1st Lt. Bobby T. Jennings, 23, Lubbock, Tex.

The two, on a flight over Iceland Tuesday, radioed that they were running out of fuel and were jumping a mile from the coast. A Danish Catalina flying boat located them and directed fishermen, who picked the airmen out of the icy water. They were still alive when brought to the hospital at Reykjavik.

Mayor Recommends Go Ahead On Parts Of Loup High Line

Mayor Clark Jeary said Wednesday he will recommend to the City Council approval of a proposal by the Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District to construct the northeast and southwest sections of its high voltage transmission line around Lincoln.

The approval would be an informal notice to Loup that the city has no objection to the construction. Official Council action under the zoning ordinance would not be taken by the Council.

Such action, according to Jeary, would well pave the way for a solution of the city's power problems for at least 1956 and possibly 1957.

The one section of line to be built by Loup is a 115,000 volt tie-in northeast of Lincoln to a high voltage line coming from Omaha. This tie-in would extend south to 82nd and Garland.

This section of line alone would permit Consumers Public Power District to obtain additional power for loads in northeast Lincoln. This, in turn, would leave a little more power available for other parts of the city.

The second section of line would run from 2nd and M south to Pioneers. This section would have little immediate effect on the power picture here but is a part of the overall plan for a 115,000 volt line clear around the south and eastern part of the city.

While property owners to the south and east are objecting to the location of the line on their property, there is little objection to the northeast and southwest sections.

These two sections could be built, Jeary said, and give some relief while yet permitting time to iron out difficulties in regards to the remainder of the line.

According to Loup Attorney Robert Guenzel, approval of the State Railway Commission must still be obtained for the line before even the first two sections can be constructed.

SOVIETS MAY ASK 'WHERE WERE YOU, COMRADE?'

New Red Line Denouncing Joseph Stalin Could Backfire On Russian Rulers

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP) — In denouncing Joseph Stalin the present Kremlin leadership may have started something it won't be able to stop.

The "collective leaders" have set in motion a re-examination of Soviet history in which they themselves were intimately involved. It may be they are doing this in full confidence there is nothing in their own personal records of which they need to be reticent or ashamed.

A leading American authority of the U.S.S.R. suggests that one of the reasons for revealing Stalin's crimes now may be that the present leaders retained a Leninist morality throughout the years they served Stalin. This Communist "conscience" he feels, may have emerged after Stalin's death as a force driving them to expose his real record.

New Era?

If this is true Soviet Communists and the Soviet citizenry may understand and respect it and accept Nikita Khrushchev as the leader of the new era.

It could also be that the Kremlin leaders by convicting Stalin of blunders and crimes have laid the groundwork for conviction of themselves sometime in the future as his accomplices. One report of the Khrushchev speech assailing Stalin on Feb. 24 at the 20th party Congress said the party boss was interrupted during his chronicle of Stalin's purges and assassinations by a delegate who shouted: "Why didn't you kill him?" Khrushchev replied, according to this account: "What could we do? There was a reign of terror."

The Big Question

There is no certainty that Russians will accept that as a satisfactory answer. It is certain that many are asking themselves where Khrushchev, Nikolai Bulganin, Anastas Mikoyan, Georgi Malenkov and other leaders were when Stalin was doing his purging.

The Iron Curtain lets but little information through on this question. But there is some.

Treason Trials

In 1936 the important Bolshevik leaders Leon Kamenev and Gregory Zinoviev were tried in the famous treason trials and shot. In January 1937, Nikolai Yezhov was named commissar for state security and the purges began in earnest. Before it was over several million were victims. In December 1938, Stalin decided to call it off.

Khrushchev during these crucial years was the Communist party chief of Moscow. Like other Soviet leaders during this bloody period he denounced openly and repeatedly the "traitors" who were executed.

Georgi Malenkov was closely associated with the great purger, Yezhov.

Yezhov at the time was a Central Committee official in charge of leading party personnel. Malenkov was his deputy.

Bulganin served in the secret police from 1918 to 1921. After that, however, he entered other fields. For many years he was mayor of Moscow. He is not known to have participated directly or personally in Stalin's great purge.

Still, in a general sense, all of Stalin's immediate lieutenants, including all members of his Politburo participated—whether willingly or unwillingly—in all his works.

Role Of Military In Kremlin Fight Getting Larger

LONDON (INS) — Soviet military leaders, headed by Marshal Georgi Zhukov, were reported Wednesday playing an increasingly important role in the struggle for power within the Kremlin.

Diplomatic circles in London cited as evidence of the Red Army's influence with Soviet policymakers a letter from the Presidium of the Communist Party Central Committee that was being widely circulated at mass meetings in Russia.

The letter was said to have charged that the late Joseph Stalin was directly responsible for the deaths of 400,000 Russian soldiers when in 1941 he ignored advice from the general staff during the battle of Kharkov, thus allowing a German army to escape capture.

National Units Asked To Review Meat Promotion

19 States Represented At Gathering

OMAHA (AP) — A 19-state conference of livestock producer interests decided Wednesday to ask three national organizations to consider their proposal for a producer-financed meat advertising and promotion plan.

The conference of governors or their representatives unanimously approved the recommendation of an 11-man steering committee that the National Beef Council, the National Swine Council and the National Livestock and Meat Board be asked to review the plan as soon as possible. The recommendation urged that sheep interests also be invited to consider it.

Nationwide Program

The proposal, presented to the meeting by Governors Leo Hoegh of Iowa and Victor Anderson of Nebraska calls for a nationwide advertising, education and promotion fund for the meat producers to be financed by voluntary checkoff at the market place.

This uniform deduction would be 10 cents a head on cattle, 5 cents on hogs and 2½ cents on sheep. A national meat council would be formed to administer the fund, which would be distributed to the National Livestock and meat board and the respective state and national councils for the program.

Summarizing the day's sessions Gov. Hoegh said it appeared that the proposal is a good one but that it can be improved. He said it also appeared it could accomplish its objectives of putting profit back in the livestock industry by generating more sales of meat.

Des Moines Meet Set

The recommendation of the steering committee also provided that a meeting of the interested states be held in Des Moines as soon as possible after the Beef and Swine councils and the Meat Board have met. This meeting would be called by Wilbur Plager of Des Moines, who was named chairman of the steering committee.

It asked that each state be represented by a cattle man, a hog man and a sheep man appointed by the governors "In consultation with the various livestock associations of their states" and that the associations be surveyed to make certain they feel they are adequately represented.

The recommendations came at the close of a daylong meeting in which speakers uniformly favored some kind of a promotion plan in behalf of the livestock industry.

Some speakers said they had found support for a compulsory checkoff program in their states, but the majority indicated a voluntary checkoff plan was most acceptable.

Cole Willing

Ralph Cole of Oxford, Neb., chairman of Gov. Anderson's farm advisory committee declared he was willing to contribute to the program because "It will get me back more money than I contribute."

Dewey Schaffer of O'Neill, Neb., representative of the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn., said he believed the majority of the Nebraska Sandhills cattle producers were "ready to go along" but he emphasized that the program should be kept in the hands of the producers. This same view was expressed by Keith Myers, Grundy Center, Iowa, hog producer.

Study Of Meat Promotion Continues

York College 10-Year Goal 500 Students

YORK, Neb. (AP) — The president of the new York College has told the York Chamber of Commerce that "in 10 years we hope to have an accredited senior college with 500 students."

"But to do this," Harvey Childress said, "we will have to build a new administration building, a new dormitory and remodel the present library and Hulitt Hall."

He said that to strengthen the cirriculum plans call for adding a department of agriculture, industrial arts and education and business administration.

York will open next fall as a two-year junior college. A previous four year school closed its doors in 1954.

The Evangelical United Brethren Church, which operated the school before it closed, transferred the college property to the Church of Christ prior to this week's banquet honoring school officials.

Nebraskans Make Plea For Ft. Randall Line Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Nebraska group sought federal money Wednesday for construction of a heavy power transmission line between Ft. Randall Dam and Grand Island, Neb.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb), C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, former president of the National Reclamation Assn., and Dewey DeBoer of Columbus, Neb., general manager of the Nebraska Public Power System asked for allocation of about 5½ million dollars.

The 230 kilovolt line would stretch 155 miles from Ft. Randall on the Missouri River in South Dakota to Grand Island. Once turned down, it is now supported by the administration.

Money Reallocated

In testimony before the subcommittee, Miller emphasized no new appropriation is being requested.

The Nebraskans, he said, want the committee to approve reallocation of money already appropriated. This includes $1,168,000 appropriated last year for a shorter 115—kv line from Ft. Randall to Neligh, Neb., and $4,332,000 of other unsued Reclamation Bureau funds.

Total Cost $8,000,000

Total cost of the project will be about eight million dollars.

"It is conceded that during the summer months when water is released from the gigantic reservoirs on the Missouri to maintain navigation, the federal agencies will have a large volume of excess power to dispose of," Peterson said in his statement.

"This excess will either be used, as we hope, to carry a pump irrigation load or it will be disposed of as 'dump power' at a rate not in excess of fuel costs to private utilities.

"By selling this summer power to pump irritators not only will that power be put to a higher beneficial use but the federal government will obtain a greatly increased income."

Ray Lowery of Nelson, president of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn., said the transmission line had support of the three major farm organizations in Nebraska.

Ernest Sjogren of Funk, president of the Southern Nebraska Rural Public Power District, also urged committee approval.

Woman Identified As Ex-Nebraskan Killed In Spain

GUADALAJARA, Spain (AP)—Two American women whose husbands are stationed at the Zaragoza Air Base were killed in an auto crash. One is a Nebraskan.

The U.S. Military Mission identified them as Mrs. Minnie I. Murrell, 58, of Jefferson, Ga., and Mrs. Ethel M. Albers, 54, of Auburn, Neb.

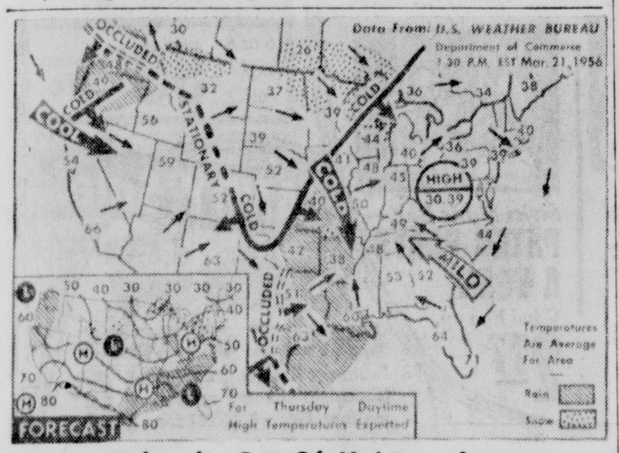
The mission said the two women were driving together in a rainstorm from Madrid to Zaragoza. Their car skidded into the rear of a truck and they were killed instantly.

Engineers Wife

Mrs. Murrell was the wife of U.S. Navy Cmdr. Drue L. Murrell, who is in charge of construction at the base. Mrs. Albers was the wife of William H. Albers, construction engineer at the base.

Mrs. Albers will be buried at Des Moines, Iowa. The Albers have two children. A daughter, Mary Patricia, was with them in Zaragoza. A son, Lt. (J.G.) William P. Albers, is stationed with the U.S. Navy 5th Utility Squadron at Atsugi, Japan.

A check with Auburn citizens failed to identify the Albers as former Auburn residents.



Nebraska Out Of Moisture Area

Showers are expected Thursday from New York south to the Gulf coast states, with thundershowers in the south. Snow mixed with rain is forecast for Pennsylvania, Michigan and northern New York, with snow flurries over Wyoming and South Dakota. Rain is forecast also for coastal Washington and Oregon. Luther Again Files On Demo Ticket For Congressional Post

Ernest M. Luther, Hooper, a large Dodge county cattle feeder, filed Wednesday with the secretary of state as a Democratic candidate for representative from the Third Congressional district.

"The farmers are fighting mad," Luther said. "My campaign will be a battle against the farm depression which threatens to destroy a rich way of life built upon family-sized farms and family-sized towns."

Luther, currently engaged in buying feeder cattle on the Omaha market, won the nomination in 1954 but was defeated by the incumbent Rep. Robert Harrison of Norfolk.

Luther charged that the lower farm income program of Ezra Benson, secretary of agriculture, "so ably championed in Congress by Harrison" can only result in "corporate farms" and "ghost towns."

He said an essential first step in formulating an agricultural action policy to reverse the present farm depression is removal of Harrison and Benson from office.

"Then we must work out a program for our farms and our towns," Luther asserted. He explained, "This is not only a farm problem, it's a town problem as well. More than half of the counties in the Third congressional district have lost population in the past five years. And this means less business for Main Street."

"The farm and Main Street are a package," he continued, "and the elimination of the rural communities' stores, while fitting into this administration's devotion to big business, would be a blow to the nation's free enterprise structure."

Dauer Is Leaving G.I. Chamber Post

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—William E. Dauer has resigned as manager of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce to take a similar job with the Chamber of Commerce at Springfield, Mo.

Dauer first came here in 1950 as assistant manager, later went to Lexington as chamber manager there, and returned here in 1952 as manager.

A committee has been named to seek a successor.

Chick Production In State Climbs

Nebraska hatcheries produced an estimated 2,801,000 chicks in February, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

This was 47 per cent more than in the corresponding month a year ago, but only 1 per cent larger than the five-year average.

The cumulative January-February hatch, at 3,479,000, is 31 per cent greater than a year ago.

Nationally, February production was the highest on record.

Suspect In Boelus Bank Holdup Is Jailed After Portland Arrest

ST. PAUL, Neb. (AP)—Action will be sought during the current session of District Court here against Homer Thomas Morrison, 26, charged with the armed robbery of the Boelus State Bank last Oct. 29.

Howard County Attorney Dean R. Armstrong said that Sheriff Dan Schenk would leave immediately to return Morrison from Portland, Ore., where he was arrested.

Morrison waived extradition.

At Portland, police said Morrison signed a statement in which he said he carried a stolen, unloaded gun and made off with $3,304 from the bank.

Minus Incident

Portland Detective Bill Taylor said Nebraska officials had cleaned up the case so well they were able to tell Portland officers where to find Morrison. He was arrested without incident.

Armstrong said the Criminal Bureau of the State Highway Patrol and Howard County officials cooperated in the investigation.

At the time of the holdup, Bank Cashier Kermit Erickson said a man had shoved a traveler's shaving kit through the window and ordered him to "put it in the case."

Morrison, formerly of Odessa, Neb., was quoted at Portland as saying he abandoned his stolen getaway car at Kearney, Neb.

Soloists will be soprano Gloria O'Harra, junior from Auburn; Marvin Wuster (left), a junior from Dawson, baritone, and Jim Ackerman, a senior from Fremont, tenor. Darryl T. Mrs. Abel, chairman of the state youth program, will serve as moderator for a panel discussion of "this is what we can do." Dr. Donald Typer, president of Doane College, will make the feature address.

Supt. Harold Douthit of the School of Agriculture at Curtis will welcome the representatives of 34 southwest Nebraska cities and towns to the day-long meeting.

Montgomery Negroes Claim Mistreatment In Boycott Testimony

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Negroes defended their boycott of segregated city buses Wednesday with testimony designed to show a pattern of mistreatment.

Through that, they hoped to show the existence of "a just cause or legal excuse" for the mass refusal of Negroes to ride Montgomery City Lines buses for the past 17 weeks.

The state's antiboycott law which was used to indict 90 Negroe leaders prohibits any conspiracy or agreement to hinder the operation of a lawful business "without just cause or legal excuse."

All 26 defense witnesses who testified Wednesday told similar stories of mistreatment or embarrassment as passengers on city buses. Court recessed until 9 a.m. Thursday.

Insufficient

State's attorneys rested their case Wednesday morning against the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., first of the Negroes called to trial, and defense lawyers immediately sought to throw out all of the prosecution testimony on the grounds it was insufficient to prove any unlawful act.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter, who at the conclusion of the trial will decide the minister's guilt or innocence in the absence of a jury, overruled the defense motion.

Negro attorney Fred D. Gray, also contended the antiboycott law itself is unconstitutional, that it violates the 27-year-old Negro minister's rights of free speech, freedom of assembly and freedom to petition for redress for wrongs done him.

The judge dismissed that argument with the reminder that the State Supreme Court has upheld the law and that the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to review it.

In Protest

One Negro defense witness, Mrs. Gladys Moore of Montgomery, testified she stopped riding city buses generally in protest against years of mistreatment of herself and other members of her race.

Under cross-examination by the state and the judge, she said she chose Dec. 5 as the day to stop riding because Negroes as a group picked that date.

The mass refusal to ride the buses after a Negro seamstress, Mrs. Rosa Parks, was arrested for refusing to move to the colored section of a bus. She was tried in City Court Dec. 5 and fined $14.

Montgomery Negroes said they made numerous complaints to the bus company and the City Commission about treatment they received from bus drivers, segregated seating facilities and about Negroes being forced to stand while seats remained empty in white sections of the buses.

Before the state concluded its case, Mayor W. A. Gayle, testified he and other city officials "offered everything we could" to Negroes but they wouldn't accept the compromise proposals.

Union College Recognizes Seniors

Dean Sam Dahl of Nebraska Wesleyan University told 90 Union College seniors at their recognition program Wednesday that "We should learn to change what we can change, and adapt ourselves to what we cannot change."

Dahl emphasized the necessity of developing a "Victorious Attitude"—the theme of his presentation. The 1956 graduating class was presented to President H. C. Hartman by E. B. Ogden, academic dean. Also on the program were A. V. Wallenkampf and R. E. Cleveland, class sponsors.

The senior recognition is a prelude to the commencement exercises which will be held in the Union College auditorium May 27.

The guests included national and regional staff members, and Girl Scout Council presidents and vice presidents from the six-state area which is comprised of Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Iowa and Missouri.

Pictured are (seated on floor, left to right) Mrs. Marshall Simpson, Middletown, N. J., a national Girl Scout staff officer; Mrs. Virgil Falloon, president of the Lincoln council, and Helen Van der Pyl, New York, national staff officer, and (back row, from left) Mrs. Holton Price Jr., St. Louis, Mo., chairman of Region VIII; Mrs. Don Faurot, Columbia, Mo., a member of the regional committee; Mrs. Schimmel; Mrs. C. Former Coed Is Bride Arrangements of carnations appointed the chancel of the Methodist Church in Weeping Water for the marriage of Miss Pearl Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Schultz of Davey, to John Groesser, son of Mrs. Reuben Groesser of Weeping Water which took place on Saturday evening, March 17. The Rev. Fred Gardner solemnized the 7 o'clock ceremony and Miss Maude Molton, who played the wedding music, also accompanied the vocal soloists, Miss Lillian Schultz of Fremont, and Fred Schultz.

Mrs. Alvin Groesser, sister-in-law of the bride-groom, and bridesmaids Miss Nancy Schultz, niece of the bride and Mrs. Fred Schultz, sister-in-law of the bride, wore identically styled frocks of nile green embroidered nylon and carried bouquets of carnations. Preceding the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Miss Nancy Schultz and Donald Groesser. Linda Snell was the flower girl and the rings were carried by John Dean Groesser.

Alvin Groesser served his brother as the best man and the guests were seated by Fred Schultz, brother of the bride.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of embroidered white nylon over satin. The snugly fitted bodice was fashioned with a deep yoke of illusion framed with a wide ruffle of embroidered nylon which extended over the brief sleeves. The extremely bouffant skirt was completed with a chapel train. A tiara of lace held her waist-length veil of illusion to the head and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Groesser attended Nebraska Wesleyan University and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska. She is on the staff of the Cass County Extension Service as a home economist. Mr. Groesser is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

TOWN TALK

A SURVEY of the city this morning revealed the fact that measles seem to be extremely popular—especially among the young set—But we might add that the adult population doesn't find the smallfry malady particularly interesting since it tends to curtail activity somewhat—

* * *

HOWEVER, we gathered that the measle-free families were busy—and that even the measled groups had things to offer in the way of news—Learned that in spite of their temporarily incapacitated children, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner have guests, Mrs. Tanner's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Menze of Minneapolis who arrived on Wednesday afternoon for a few days visit.

* * *

SPEAKING of guests—Mrs. Everett Cook planed into Lincoln Wednesday afternoon for a brief stay as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Aitken. Mrs. Cook, who stopped off en route from the west coast, where she has been visiting, to her home in Evanston, Ill., will be joined here by Mr. Cook who arrives later this week, and who will accompany Mrs. Cook home.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer will be host and hostess at a family dinner at their home complimenting the visitors.

UNDERSTAND that on April 9, Mrs. E. B. Drake is to be a luncheon hostess — in absentia — when she entertains the members of her Omaha Book Club at the University Club. We suspect that Mrs. George Engler of Omaha, the co-hostess, will do the honors.

In addition to Mrs. Engler the group coming from Omaha will include Mrs. Frank Shelby, Mrs. Richard Peters, Mrs.Clay Thomas, Mrs. Earl Hawkins, Mrs. Lynn Hall, Mrs. Albert Busch, Mrs. Max Miller, Mrs. Ted Metcalf, Mrs. B. Holmquist, Mrs. Gene Miller, Mrs. Lee Huff, Mrs. Melvin Bekins, Mrs. Ray Farquhar, Mrs. Joe McFayden, Mrs. W. Buchanan, Mrs. W. W. Wenstrand, Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Richard Mallory, Mrs. Will Nobel, Mrs. C. W. Teal, Mrs. Fred Bucholz, Mrs. Tom Clark, Mrs. D. B. Porter, Mrs. Elton Loucks, Mrs. Floyd Clarke, Mrs. Charles Keerans.

* * *

IN the mail on Wednesday were invitations for the 5 o'clock-to-7 o'clock party for which Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stein and Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola will be hosts and hostess on Saturday evening, March 31, when they compliment Mr. and Mrs. William Gold, II.

* * *

OUR attention at this moment, however, is centered on a party this week-end — the 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock hors d'oeuvres party for which Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel will be host and hostess at their home on Sunday evening when they pay courtesy to Mr. Schimmel's sister, Mrs. Irving Mendelson of Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y., who, with her children, Brad and Mary Sue, arrives on Saturday evening.

* * *

TODAY is the day that Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin, their son, Bruce Martin, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett T. Martin, plane off to Washington D. C., for a stay of a few days. While in Washington Bruce Martin, who will be graduated from the University of Nebraska in June, will decide in which graduate school he will enroll next autumn.

The Martins plan to see recent Washington residents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Floete, formerly of Lincoln, during their stay in the nation's capital.

Plan NFWC Convention

H. Barmore of Lexington, president of the state organization.

Senator Kefauver will address the delegates and guests at the Thursday afternoon, April 5, session and will speak on the subject of juvenile problems.

Also a keynote speaker at the convention will be Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman of Jerseyville, Ill., national president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who will present the featured address at the convention's banquet on Thursday evening.

Lehnhoff Jr., with William E. Graham as moderator. The panel will be introduced by Howard Kennedy, president of the Nebraska Rheumatism Foundation.

Music for the convention banquet Thursday evening will be presented by the state chorus of club members, to be directed by Dr. David Foltz of the University of Nebraska, and highlighting the pre-convention dinner on Wednesday evening will be songs by a choral group from the Junior Woman's Club of McCook. Mrs. Charles O. Smith will be dinner speaker and guests will be foreign students attending the University of Nebraska on federation scholarships.

The convention program also will include a discussion on, "Should Eighteen Year Olds have the Right to Vote?", by a group of debaters from Benson High School in Omaha.

What To Do On Juvenile Delinquency Viewed By Panel And 125 Parents

By SUE HOLBERT
Star Staff Writer

How to prevent juvenile delinquency, how to detect signs of delinquency, and ways of helping youngsters who have gotten into trouble were discussed by a panel of experts Wednesday evening before a group of about 125 parents.

The meeting, at Everett Junior High School, was the first of a proposed series of community meetings to tackle the problem of delinquency on the junior high school age level.

"I doubt if those of us here have a problem of juvenile delinquency. It is the families who are not here whom we must contact," Bill Davidson, a parent and panel member, said.

The idea that, although the child is somewhat responsible for his actions, it is usually the parents who are at fault was repeated by all the panel members. The panel also agreed that delinquency is a community problem, and cannot be left entirely to the police or social agencies.

No Vacuum

"No delinquent lives in a vacuum," Dr. Garnet Larson of the University of Nebraska School of Social Work stated. "He has contact with the community and is influenced by it.'"

Problems arise when the child begins to desire to branch out and have contacts outside the home, she said. It is at this time the development of the child changes from a parent responsibility to a parent-community job.

The child of 12, 13 or 14 cannot be expected to accept the responsibility for all his actions, and cannot be expected to be able to differentiate between desirable and undesirable behavior, she said. He must be guided by interested parents, she added.

Miss Helen Cox, juvenile probation officer, explained to parents the prodedure used when a child comes to the attention of her office. The average age of these children, she stated, was 13 to 15.

Questions

Some of the questions youngsters are always asked are:

What do your parents do? Are they home when you go and come from school? Do you go to church? Do your parents? Are your friends welcome in your home? Do your parents know your friends? What do you read? Do you have any hours to keep?

If the case is serious enough and the child is put on probation, he is expected to obey his parents, go to school, keep reasonable hours, and conduct himself properly. And parents are expected to help him, she stated.

Mrs. Cox emphasized that most girls come to her office because their mothers failed to give them proper sex and religious training.

Policewoman Grace McMichael discussed the procedure of the police department in handling a juvenile offender. She said the department has "felt a great upsurge in delinquency cases lately."

30 A Month

She said there are about 30 children a month at the police station who the police consider 'beyond police help." These youngsters are referred to other agencies, she explained.

"Our system in the past few years has gotten far behind," she stated. "A group such as this (the parent group) can help improve the situation, and help give children what is rightfully theirs."

"If you felt we were doing as good a job as necessary you wouldn't be here," she continued.

She said parents must realize that children today are living in large groups whereas in past years they participated in smaller groups, primarily the family.

Miss McMichael said a solution to delinquency is in being with the child more, knowing his friends, keeping closer supervision over his activities, and making his family recreation and life more exciting and enlightening.

Moral, marital and economic maturity are the three goals for a teen-ager, she said.

Davidson, representing the parents, said many parents are "forgetting" to take care of their children, and turning them over to baby-sitters, teachers, and eventually even psychiatrists."

"The average child is a mimic," Davidson said. He pointed out that parents have a great deal of control over their children, and that parents should exert that control more frequently.

Miss McMichael agreed that the responsiblity has been turned over to other agencies, and said the school has "much graver responsibilities" than it did in the past.

The parents asked the panel members on how to deal with dating on the junior high level. When Miss McMichael replied, "I don't see any good coming out of early-age dating," she received loud applause. However, she said group social activities are excellent if well-supervised.

Experts, Parents Discuss Child Behavior

Speaking at Everett Junior High School at a meeting of parents and experts on child behavior were (left to right) Dr. Garnet Larson (standing) of the University of Nebraska School of Social Work; Mrs. Helen Cox, Lancaster County probation officer; Grace McMichael, Lincoln policewoman, and Bill Davidson, representing the Everett Parent-Teachers Association. Censure Of Five Colleges Proposed

Professor's Group Lashes Faculty Firings Over Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special committee of the American Assn. of University Professors recommended Wednesday night that five college and university administrations be censured for firing or suspending faculty members in civil rights controversies.

The cases hinged primarily on invoking of the Fifth Amendment before congressional committees when questioned about alleged Communist connections, and on refusal to sign loyalty oaths.

The school administrations recommended for AAUP censure are:

The Colleges

University of California; Ohio State University; Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J.; Temple University, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Medical College, also Philadelphia.

At the same time the committee proposed commendation for administrations of the following schools for supporting faculty members when they were under accusation:

University of Chicago; Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.; Harvard University; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore; Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y.

Usually Followed

A spokesman said the association usually follows the recommendations of committees. The censure and commendation proposals are to be placed before the association at its annual meeting in St. Louis, April 6-7.

The committee was appointed by the council or governing board, of the AAUP last fall "to review the effects upon academic freedom and tenure of the national effort to achieve military security and to combat Soviet communism." It studied cases arising over the pest eight years.

The committee directed its findings at "administrations," rather than at the institutions themselves.

It held that "invocation of the Fifth Amendment by a faculty member . . . cannot be in itself a sufficient ground for removing him." It placed refusal to sign loyalty oaths on a similar level.

"His professional fitness to continue in his position, considered in the light of other relevant factors," the committee said, is the only question that should be considered when a teacher is challenged.

Nevertheless, it said, "in any proper inquiry by his institution, it is the duty of a faculty member to disclose facts concerning himself that are of legitimate concern to the institution."

Aside from administrations singled out for censure or commendation, the committee commented critically on the handling of cases at several other schools.

Institutions in this group are: University of Colorado; Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia; University of Kansas City (Mo.); University of Michigan, New York City municipal colleges; Oregon State Colleges; Reed College, Portland, Ore.; San Diego (Calif.) State College; University of Washington; and Wayne University, Detroit.

QUIRKS

Profitable Job Hunt

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—A fast-talking boy about 8 years old has been walking into various business firms, saying:

"Have you any work for me? I'll do anything for a quarter."

Many storekeepers, impressed by his ambition, said they had no work, but gave him the quarter anyway.

Now juvenile authorities want the lad. They would like to question him about the reported $15 to $20 a week he has been making on the rounds.

Modern Criticism

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—During a love scene in a movie depicting ancient times, an 8-year old boy asked his father:

"Didn't you say this was supposed to be a story from about 3,000 years ago?"

"Yes," the father replied.

"Well," queried the youngster, "how come that girl has a vaccination scar on her arm?'

SF 8-Point Favorite Over SMU

Iowa 9-Point Choice In NCAA Semifinals

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — San Francisco's amazing basketball Dons, shooting to cap a record victory string at 55, launch the final phase of their NCAA title defense against doughty Southern Methodist here Thursday night.

In the other half of the NCAA semifinals at McGaw Field House on Northwestern University's campus, will be the evening's opening game (7:30 p.m., CST) between Big 10 champion Iowa and Temple.

Although TV rights were available to this climax of the NCAA's 25-team post-season classic, there will be no national telecast nor national radio broadcast.

Radio, TV Coverage

However, a score of individual radio stations will originate broadcasts from the McGaw arena which will be packed with a sellout 10,000, both for Thursday night's semifinals and Friday night's finals. A telecast of the San Francisco-SMU game also will be piped to Dallas, Tex.

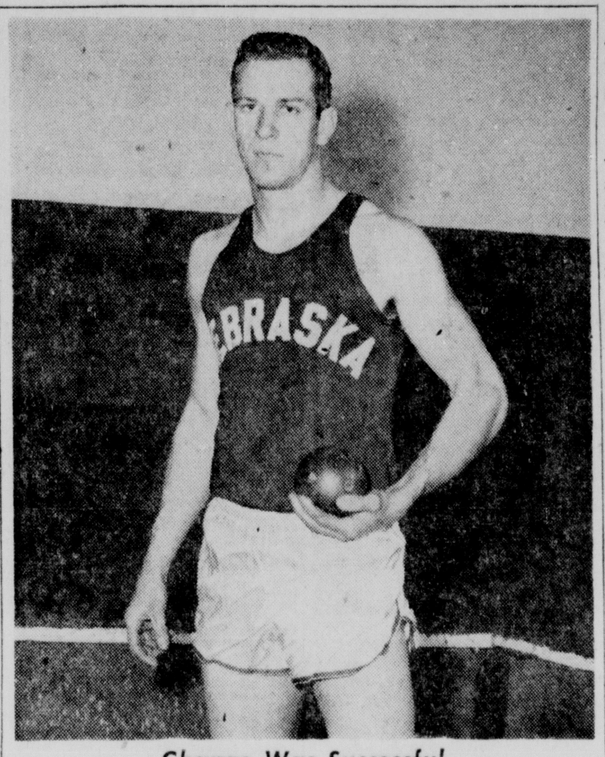
San Francisco's Dons, an 8-point favorite to make Southern Methodist its 54th straight victim, arrived by plane early Wednesday morning and were scheduled for a mid-afternoon drill at McGaw.

Later in the day, practice sessions were on tap for the other three contenders.

Iowa's well-balanced Hawkeyes, owning a 16-game winning streak, are rated 9 points better than Temple's Owls, whose 26-3 record includes three tight victories in preliminary NCAA play.

With a fast attack based around Carl (Sugar) Cain, a 6-3 forward with tremendous leg spring, Iowa is rated an outside chance of spilling the Dons in a likely championship meeting Friday night.

However, it would take a complete reversal of form by the Dons and a peak game by the Hawkeyes to turn the trick. The Dons, No. 1 in the AP poll against Iowa's No. 4 rating, thus far haven't missed their great guard, K. C. Jones, who was ineligible for NCAA play.



Change Was Successful

Ken Reiners, University of Nebraska shot putter from McCook, started his Husker spring athletic career as a baseball hopeful but later changed to track—and the change proved a success. Reiners placed fourth in the Big Seven indoor meet with a put of 50 feet 8½ inches, and will be counted on for points in outdoor meets.

NU Baseball Squad Set For Trip

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

A green University of Nebraska baseball squad will leave Lincoln at 6 a.m. Friday on the annual southern road trip, hopeful of duplicating last year's successful tour.

A squad of 19 men, including five lettermen, was named Wednesday by Coach Tony Sharpe. This squad will make a 10-day trip through Oklahoma and Texas, playing seven games.

Last year the Huskers won five of six games on the southern trip, losing one of two games to Houston and beating Tulsa and Texas twice.

This year's tour starts Saturday against Tulsa. The Huskers play Houston Monday and Tuesday; Rice Wednesday and Thursday; and Baylor Friday and Saturday.

The tentative starting lineup named Wednesday by Sharpe includes only two lettermen — third baseman Don Brown and shortstop Norm Coufal. Two of last year's squad members, outfielder Don Erway and first baseman John Beideck, are in the lineup.

Other lettermen are left-handed pitchers Willie Greenlaw, Dick Geier and Roger Bottorff.

Sharpe hasn't decided on a starting pitcher for Saturday's game. More than one of the six pitchers making the trip will probably see action.

The lineup, exclusive of pitchers, will probably read like this:

Al Karle, 2b	Jim Kane, c
Frank Nappi, cf	Larry Lewis, rf
Norm Coufal, ss	Don Erway, lf
Don Brown, 3b	John Beideck, 1b

Just how this club will hit remains to be seen. The Huskers have had few outdoor practices and the southern trip will do much to decide who will carry the load in the Big Seven race later.

The traveling squad:

Catchers—Jim Kane, Wisner; Jim Flynn, Schuyler.

Pitchers—Willie Greenlaw, Portland, Me.; Dick Geier, Lincoln; Roger Bottorff, Lincoln; Charles Ziegenbein, Wisner; Gene Torczon, Humphrey; Bruce Fairchild, Endicott.

Infielders—John Beideck, Lincoln; Al Karle, Grand Island; Jim Kubacki, Toledo, O.; Norm Coufal, David City; Don Brown, Omaha; Frank Nappi, Portland, Me.

Outfielders—Don Erway, Lincoln; Roger Long, Polk; Gary Reimers, Millard; Larry Lewis, Ogallala; Marv Ahrensdorf, North Platte.

Student manager—Gary Peters, Lincoln.

Lifting Contest Slated

A weight lifting and physique contest will be held 7:30 p.m. Friday at the YMCA gymnasium. The contest is sponsored by the YMCA weight lifting club, Howard Porter, president.

'Boldy' On West Team

KANSAS CITY (INS) — V. R. Barnhouse of Oklahoma A. and M. and Don Boldebuck of Houston were added Wednesday to the West team for the Fifth Annual East-West Shrine basketball game in Kansas City Monday night.

St. Louis Tips Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Pettit scored 41 points but it took two free throws by rookie Al Ferrari with 54 seconds to play Wednesday night to give the St. Louis Hawks a 116-115 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in the deciding game in the Western Division semifinals of the National Basketball Assn.

Dartmouth football captain Robert Rex carried the ball from his fullback position only five times during the 1955 season.

Coach Elliott Impressed By Cornhuskers 'Hitting' Ability, Size, Individual Speed

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

"We've got ample size and some fine individual speed," Nebraska Football Coach Pete Elliott said Wednesday.

"Now we want to develop overall team speed."

Elliott assessed the Cornhusker squad in its third day of spring practice and said he was "most pleased with one thing."

"The thing that has impressed me most is that these kids love to hit," he grinned. "They like to play football and their attitude so far has been excellent."

Wednesday the emphasis was shifted from the offense to the defense as the screening process of some 109 candidates continued.

"We're looking for the top 44 or 55 boys and we'll concentrate as much as we can on them," Pete said. "But the rest of the boys will get as much work as possible and move up as they improve."

Elliott said he thought there were a lot of candidates with "potential," but that the staff would soon have to begin moulding the cream of the crop.

"That doesn't mean the others won't have a chance," he stressed. "I sincerely don't believe a coach can give up on any boy. You just can't tell when practice will pay off and he'll develop enough to be a big help."

Thursday will be the final day of practice until Tuesday, April 3, when the squad reconvenes after Easter vacation.

And the order of the day will be scrimmage, various units of Reds and Whites tangling with each other under the camera lens.

Wednesday afternoon the Huskers spent the early part of practice on the usual "agility drills" and defensive chores and then worked on their outside game scrimmage on option plays.

Elliott said he expected there would be quite a few personnel and position changes when the squad started going full speed on defense.

15 Don't Report

Coach Elliott announced Wednesday that 15 men listed earlier on the advance roster have not reported for practice and have had their suits picked up.

The list includes George Bosiljevac of Omaha, Wayne Beckman of Malcolm, John Crabtree of Hastings, John Douthit of Lincoln, Tom Kumpf of Leigh, Robert Leigh of Hardy, Les Roberts of Tecumseh, a 1955 squad member; LaVern Rogowski of Hemingford, Richard Washut of Acme, Wyo., Dave Williams of Lincoln, William Wilson of Sterling, Ken Winey of Shelton, Duane Wissel of Bennet, Charles Woodard of Elma, N. Y., and Jim Maguire of Rapid City, S. D.

New Coach

Ron Clark, former halfback star and member of 1954 Orange Bowl team, has joined the Huskers as an assistant coach. Clark is attending the university and joins former teammates Bill Taylor and Bob Wagner on the coaching staff.

St. Francis To Test Dayton In NIT Tournament Tonight

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — The hardest thing about coaching a basketball team sometimes is not to do something, Dayton Coach Tommy Blackburn admitted Wednesday as he sent his almost-grounded Flyers through a brisk workout in preparation for their semifinal game in the National Invitation Tournament.

Dayton, the top-seeded team, meets scrappy, unseeded St. Francis of Brooklyn Thursday night in Madison Square Garden after Louisville and St. Joseph's, second and third on the list, clash in the first semifinals. The winners will play for the 19th NIT title on Saturday afternoon before a national television audience.

Narrow Escape

Blackburn, still shaky after Dayton's narrow escape from elimination in its opening tournament game against Xavier of Cincinnati, was uncertain Wednesday whether the cause was two weeks of inactivity since the last regular-season game or a simple case of Garden jitters. And he was undecided whether to make some changes or stand pat on the lineup that won 23 and lost three games on the way to Dayton's fifth post-season tournament.

Dayton got past Xavier, 72-68, Tuesday night by what Blackburn said was "the grace of God and Xavier's lousy foul shooting."

The coach had to make one rather risky move that helped considerably. He benched 7-foot Bill Uhl for 15 minutes in the second half while sub Al Sicking pulled the Flyers together and put them back into the ball game. A change for Thursday might be replacing 6-7 Jim Palmer with Jack McCarthy or Bill Almashy at forward.

The determined newcomers, St. Francis and St. Joseph's, have reached the semifinals on their first try.

Doby's 400-Foot Blast Aids White Sox 6-0 Rout Of Boston

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Larry Doby's third home run of the spring training season—a 400-foot blast over the right field wall—started the Chicago White Sox on a 6-0 rout of the Boston Red Sox before 3,161 Wednesday at Payne Park.

A single by Jim Marshall, a double by Sherman Lollar, then singles by Luis Aparicio, Jim Esposito, his fourth of the game, Nellie Fox and Doby salted the game away.

Ike Delock finished off two scoreless innings.

Snider opened the extra inning with a single off Duke Maas and when Rube Walker sacrificed, the Detroit righthander threw the ball into right field, with Snider going to third. Jim Gentile was intentionally passed to set it up for Jackson.

Giants Nip Cubs; 6 Homers In Game

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The New York Giants broke loose for 14 hits to nip the Chicago Cubs 11-10 under a broiling, 85-degree sun Wednesday.

There were six homers in the game, three by each team. Henry Thompson, pitcher Johnny Antonelli and pinch-hitter George Wilson connected for the Giants, while Ernie Banks, Walt Moryn and Eddie Miksis homered for the Cubs.

It was the fifth for ex-Dodger Moryn, making him one of the Cactus League leaders.

The Giants, off to a 5-0 lead after 2½ innings, found themselves tied with the Cubs, aided by Banks' two-run homer, scored five times in the bottom half of the third.

The Giants then moved into a 10-6 lead, but the Cubs rallied again before the New Yorkers' relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm came to the rescue.

The victory went to Brooks Lawrence. The former St. Louis Cardinal righthander worked the first six frames and was touched for all the Philadelphia runs and their five hits, one more than the Redlegs garnered off a trio of Philly righthanders.

St. Louis got to Nichols in the first try, scoring two runs when Stan Musial doubled lead-off batter Dick Schofield home and Red Schoendienst scored on Rip Repulski's fly.

In the third, the Cards added three more runs when Musial walked, Repulski was safe on Ed Mathews' error and Walker Cooper singled. Ken Boyer singled to fill the bases, then Pete Whisenant's fly scored Repulski and a moment later Joe Cunningham drove Cooper home with a single.

Manager Denies Fix Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man who managed former lightweight boxer Tommy Campbell denied in a statement to the governor's committee on boxing and wrestling Wednesday that he ever gave his fighter instructions to throw a fight to Art Aragon.

The manager, George Moore, asked to appear before the committee to give testimony. James Cox, special counsel for the committee, said Moore would be welcome.

Campbell, in sworn testimony said Moore and match-maker Babe McCoy of the Olympic Auditorium here, arranged to have Aragon, a local box office attraction, win by a knockout. Aragon won by a kayo in the third round after Campbell had knocked him down in the second.

McCoy sent word he would not appear at Thursday's session on advice of his physician.

On The Stand

Meanwhile Cal Eaton, promoter at the Olympic, was on the stand much of the day. He was asked about McCoy's interests in wrestler Primo Carnera, former world heavyweight boxing champion.

"Didn't McCoy guarantee Carnera work and bring him here?" Cox asked.

"I guaranteed Carnera work," Eaton replied.

"Wasn't McCoy 'bankrolling' Carnera?"

"Yes, I knew he had an interest in him."

"Did McCoy have a wrestling promoter's license as required by the state?"

"No," replied Eaton.

During the questioning Eaton was joined by his son, Robert A. Eaton, who is married to a daughter of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight who ordered the investigation.

Chiefs' Adkins Quits Game

The Lincoln Chiefs Wednesday lost a hard-hitting first baseman, gained a proven Western League pitcher and had three possible holdouts on the eve of Thursday's first spring drills at Huntsville, Tex.

Dick Wagner, general manager of the Chiefs, announced that first baseman Ted Adkins has retired from baseball. Adkins, a .292 hitter for the Chiefs last summer, is attending medical school at the University of California in San Francisco..

Pitcher Dick Drilling (12-12) returned a signed contract and will report to Huntsville five days late.

There were three possible holdouts — Reno DeBenedetti, Dick Schroyer and Dick Shinnick.

DeBenedetti, a slugging star with Denver of the Western League in 1954, played third base for the Pittsburgh Pirates' Southern Association farm at New Orleans last year.

Although DeBenedetti, Schoyer and Shinnick have not signed contracts they are expected to report to Huntsville. No player will be classified as a holdout until Thursday.

The Chiefs also learned that George Matile, an infielder who played part of the 1955 season with Lincoln before being sent to Billings, Montana, will not report until June. He is in school.

Akins Rallies, Wins Decision Over Hector

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Virgil (Honeybear) Akins drove Hector Constance to the ropes in a desperate body attack in the last round to get a narrow, but unanimous, decision over the West Indian in their 10-round, nationally televised fight Wednesday night.

Akins, a St. Louisan, weighed 148½. Constance from the British island of Trinidad, scaled at 145½ for the welterweight bout.

Constance had come back strong after a slow start and was the aggressor in the late rounds and had drawn even with the sixth-ranked Akins going into the last round.

Judges Fred Connell and Howard Hess and Referee Bennie Kessler all scored the bout 51-49 for Akins. The Associated Press scored it 50-50.

Wayne Womnochil, 192-pounder from Omaha, knocked out Claude Brown, 240 pounds, in the first round in a preliminary bout.

'The Bruiser' To Challenge Verne Gagne

Verne Gagne, United States rassling champion, may get the test of his career next Tuesday night at the Fairgrounds Arena when he tangles with challenger Dick "The Bruiser" Aflis.

"The Bruiser" is the cat-like rassler who thrilled fans here two weeks ago with his speed, power and agility. Gagne will have to go all out to curb this newcomer who promises to become one of the nation's greatest mat performers.

Aflis, a former professional football player, won two quick falls over George Bruckman in his first appearance here. His shoulders—nearly as broad as Yukon Eric's—will give the young scrapper a good bargaining point when it comes to matching power with the muscular Gagne.

Promoter Adam Krieger announced the match Thursday. Two other preliminary matches will be announced at a later date.

Giant Hopes Still High Despite Dodger Power

By BOB MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Decisions remain to be made in the New York Giant baseball entourage, which means that as of today the 1956 picture is a little unsettled.

But the general sentiment is still optimistic for a pennant contender in the National League, Brooklyn or Milwaukee notwithstanding.

Bill Rigney, a serious, hard-working but no less aggressive successor to the man he replaced as manager of the Giants, the flamboyant Leo Durocher, seems to have the squad and the situation well in hand. The 38-year-old native of Alameda, Calif., is no stranger to the Giants or its personnel. Briefly, he played for them from 1946 to 1953, and for the next two years successfully managed their most important farm club, Minneapolis—last year to the American Assn. and Little World Series championships.

Rigney believes he has an excellent pitching staff, leading off with Johnny Antonelli.

He has a sound infield, sparked by a veteran who has been correctly but somewhat indelicately styled the heart and guts of the team, Capt. Alvin Dark.

He has an outfield that features Willie Mays, and a dependable catching staff that includes two tested veterans, Wes Westrum and Ray Katt.

Perhaps most of all, the Giants have versatility and bench strength that stretches clear from the Polo Grounds to Minneapolis.

The unsettled condition is this: the Giants have some pretty good talent in camp. Rigney has yet to decide whom to keep, and whom to keep a little longer for a longer look.

Strong Outfield

Mays and Don Mueller may be said to be set in the outfield, with Whitey Lockman certainly available if he is not playing first base. Dusty Rhodes may be a regular, and George Wilson most likely will be around for his trusty hitting in a pinch.

Bob Lennon, up from Minneapolis, may be a key man and he is a key problem now. Somehow he never hits in the spring. Rigney knows he hit well for him at Minneapolis last year. He doesn't know whether he can hit against major league pitching as a regular thing.

The pitchers figure to be such regulars as Antonelli, Don Liddle, Jim Hearn, and Ruben Gomez, along with relief throwers Hoyt Wilhelm, Marv Grissom or Johnny McCall.

Attracts Attention

Of the youngsters, Allan Worthington, a 19-game winner at Minneapolis, has drawn marked attention. There are others—Lefty Pete Burnside, Joe Margoneri, who has been hampered by a bum arm; Ramon Monzant, whom the club thought enough of to send Scout Tom Sheehan to Venezuela to escort to Phoenix; Jim Constable, and a couple of others whose fate remains to be decided.

Around the infield, it could be a rookie at first, Bill White, up from Dallas; Dark at short, and possibly either Hank Thompson or Daryl Spencer at third.

Here again is pleasant confusion. Thompson can play anywhere in the infield or outfield, and Spencer, just back from military service, caplaymnsoaty n tary service, can play most any infield position.

Foster Castleman has been tried most at second, but Rigney has much to shuffle about in the infield—Wayne Terwilliger, a flossy fielder; Bob Hofman, Bill Gardner, Gail Harris and a promising rookie, Ed Bressoud.

Lincoln Golf Team Has 2 Lettermen

Defending Sand and Grass Greens State Golf Champion Lincoln High School will depend heavily on returning lettermen Gary Gruenemeier and Bud Williamson during the 1956 season.

The first match, scheduled for April 6 with North Platte, is a tentative one. It has not been decided yet whether the meet will be held at Lincoln or at North Platte.

Golf matches between Norheast, Southeast and Lincoln will all be played at Pioneers Golf Course, as well as the city meet. Harry Kuklin sponsors the Links golfers.

Eighteen men have checked out for golf this spring, with Glen Gruenemeier the standout of the non-lettermen.

The squad:

Mike Watkins	Craig Richardson
Mark Sorensen	Jerry Overgaard
Bill Arledge	Jim Pinkerton
John Reigert	Larry Groge
Dick O'Grady	Oldis Roze
John Hoerner	Bill Rowlands

Denny Taylor	Bud Williamson
Jim Cadwallader	Richard Staunning

Schedule

April 6—North Platte; 10—Northeast; 13—Southeast; 24—Southeast; 27—Northeast.

Peru Basketball Coach Resigns

PERU—William O. (Bill) Johnson, head basketball coach and assistant professor of physical education at Peru State College since September, 1952, has resigned effective at the close of the present school year, according to an announcement made Wednesday by President Neal S. Gomon.

In addition to his duties as head basketball mentor he has assisted Coach Al Wheeler as end Coach and chief scout for Bobcat footballers and has also served as assistant track coach.

Coach Johnson came to Peru from Clinton, Mo., high school where he was head coach of all sports for five years. Mr. Johnson's future plans have not been announced.

1,000 Birds Released

COLUMBUS — State Game Warden C. W. Shaffer said Wednesday 1,000 pheasants from Wisconsin will be released in Platte County next week.

The $1 pheasant stamps were largely responsible for the purchase of the birds.

Southeast Track Team Built Around 5 Vets, 3 Transfers

Southeast track coach Roy Churchill is building a Knight track team around a small nucleus of veterans and transfer students.

Five cindermen who earned track letters at College View last year and three monogram winners at other schools bolster the Knight team.

Jim Ebel, Ron Hill and Dick Burris are the transfer students. Ebel lettered in the discus in an Illinois high school. Hill and Burris competed in Southeastern Nebraska schools.

Lack of strength in the distance events may hinder Southeast. Wayne Michaelis, junior half-miler, is the only letterman in the long runs.

Harland Mook, Ron Eley, Dan Wright and Jeff Cheuvront are the other lettermen. Mook is a shot-putter, Cheuvront runs the 200 and 440-yard dashes and high jumps and broad jumps.

Wright is a pole vaulter and Eley run the dashes.

Among the non-lettermen aspirants who have earned Coach Churchill's praise are Ron Keal (high jump); Jerry Carlson (hurdles); Tom Davies (440); Gill Goldman (dashes); Don Campbell (dashes); Charles Eno and John Swenson (weights); and Rich Garlinghouse (mile).

Although the schedule is still incomplete, the Knights' first meet is slated for March 29 in a quadrangular at Northeast with Blair, Northeast and Ashland.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE

March 29—Quadrangular at Northeast.
April 19—Mid-East Conference Meet at Fairbury; 27—City Meet at Wesleyan.
May 4 or 5—District Qualifying Meet; 11-12—State Meet.

Scottsbluff Host To Platte Valley Shoot

SCOTTSBLUFF — The Bluffs Rifle and Pistol Club is sponsoring its 11th annual Platte Valley Smallbore Championships April 7-8.

A new range in the National Guard Armory building provides excellent facilities for shooters and bystanders alike. There will be twenty firing points and the Scottsbluff National Guard Company will sponsor light meals in their own kitchen.

Eleven matches will be fired each day, beginning at 8 a.m. There is a large traveling trophy to be presented for each match, plus awards to winners in each classification.

State Tennis Meet Set-Up Changed

A new two class schedule for the Nebraska High School Tennis Championships will go into action this year for the 1956 tourney at the University of Nebraska, May 11-12.

In the past the meet has been a one class affair.

The division this year calls for 16 Class AA schools (basketball classification) in the upper division of the tourney. Other schools will form the Class B division.

NSAA Secretary C. C. Thompson announced that the 1955 meet, in which 13 schools scored, produced a jam and the new plan will enable a boy to play no more than two matches a day.

Elgin Hopes Micronics Work Will Help Lincoln

Richard H. Brandes, manager of Lincoln's Elgin National Watch Co. plant, said Wednesday the local plant may play an important role in the company's new micronics division.

The firm's Elgin, Ill., headquarters announced creation of the division Wednesday.

Brandes said there would be little immediate benefit to the Lincoln plant but said that if production work develops from the new program a great deal of it would undoubtedly be allocated to Lincoln.

He said one of the "basic reasons" for organizing the micronics division is to develop volume which would help offset a decline in "prime government contracts for ammunition components of the type handled by the Lincoln plant."

"New work of this cannot be created overnight," he added, "but Elgin is doing its best to develop production volume which would provide better employment opportunities at Lincoln."

J. G. Shennan, Elgin president, said the establishment of the new division is a bid to apply high-precision watch manufacturing techniques to a wide variety of commercial products. He described the program as an important new phase of the company's diversification program, which since its inception two years ago has been confined to acquisitions in the electronics components field.

The new program, which is absorbing personnel and functions of the former ordnance division, will handle all military contracts including a number of current developmental projects in the guided missile field.

Shennan said the company's goal is to create a minimum of $25 million in sales volume for the new division during the next three years. He said the work is expected to lead Elgin into "important new fields of development and manufacture."

Shennan said staff engineers is being organized to seek out problems of precision miniaturization facing commercial manufacturers and the military services. He said military security prevented full disclosure of work already accomplished in this field.

Ex-Soviet Secret Police Official Is Reported Hanged

BERLIN (INS) — An anti-Communist West Berlin organization reported Wednesday that the former deputy chief of the Soviet secret police in East Germany had been hanged in Moscow.

Information Bureau West identified the Russian as a Col. Gorkin and said he had been charged with being an associate of the executed police boss, Lavrenti P. Beria.

Gorkin, the bureau said, was responsible for the investigations which led to the execution of several hundred Germans between 1948 and 1954. He was said to have supervised the planting of Red agents within western intelligence organizations based in West Germany.

Kennedy Sees Harm In Splitting State's Electoral Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) declared Wednesday that splitting up each state's electoral vote for president would, to the harm of the country, encourage the growth of splinter parties.

Kennedy also told the Senate that proposed revisions in the method of choosing presidents and vice presidents would throw "most elections" into Congress.

On the other hand, Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) said the effect would be to lessen the importance of small parties. He maintained that in 1948 the third-party vote for Henry Wallace, then heading the Progressive party ticket, turned all of New York's 45 votes to Republican Thomas Dewey.

Daniel is one of the authors of a proposed constitutional amendment to do away with the system of allotting all electoral college votes to the candidate polling the highest popular vote in each state.

Aims For Tuesday Vote

The Senate argued the case for and against for the second straight day, with Democratic leader Johnson of Texas aiming for a vote by next Tuesday.

A total of 54 senators—30 Republicans and 24 Democrats—have cosponsored the latest proposal to apportion electoral votes according to popular votes. Strong opposition, however, has been voiced in both the Senate and House. The House rejected a somewhat similar proposal six years ago.

Such broad Senate sponsorship would not guarantee even initial success for the bill if all senators were present for the final roll call, since a two-thirds majority is needed to approve a constitutional amendment. Also ahead would be a vote in the House and ratification by 36 of the 48 states.

Sens. Thurmond (D-SC) and Mundt (R-SD) worked with Daniel on the most recent in a succession of bills over the years that would have scrapped the present "winner take all" system. Their amendment would allow the states these alternatives:

The Alternatives

Divide their electoral votes in actual proportion to popular votes cast for the candidates, or—

Name their electors as they do their senators and representatives; that is, two for the candidate winning the state as a whole and one for the top man in each congressional district.

The Senate and House would be called to choose a president from among the three top candidates if none received a majority.

Proponents generally contend this system would more accurately reflect the popular vote. They also argue it would reduce the influence of pressure or minority groups whom they say are sought after to swing the entire electoral vote of big states.

Opponents insist it would frustrate the more populous, more evenly divided states while adding political weight to one-party states. They also say many legislatures already have split their states into districts which allow rural areas to dominate the cities, even though urban voters are more numerous.

ASC Officer Webb Given Job Award

Robert M. Webb has been cited "for performance substantially exceeding the requirements of his position" as state administrative officer of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Webb received an incentive award of $300 from the Commodity Stabilization Service.

The award said, in part, that Webb "was able to mold his staff into a closely knit, smoothly operating office group through proper delegation of authority combined with excellent leadership."

POSTCARD

Mr. Ted Williams pokes baseballs around for the Boston Red Sox. He is quoted as being mighty upset the way draft boards call up ball players.

Just when the tough season lies ahead.

The House Armed Services Committee came back and said, "So What?" Were ball players different from everybody else?

I have an idea this will cause a great deal of talk before it is all over. Two emotional ways of the American Way of Life coming in horrid conflict.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, I have not paid much attention to baseball since my salad days. But I looked it up this morning and find the Brittanica says it is an American way of life.

In a sort of sniffy way, the Britannica declares:

"Baseball belongs to the extensive genus of civilized athletic competitions stemming from the primitive play urge to whack a fragment of rock about the place with a club."

The story is that Abner Doubleday laid out the first baseball field and conducted the first baseball game in Cooperstown, N. Y, in the summer of 1839.

After baseball got big time, so may people disputed this that A. G. Spalding appointed a research commission. They reported back in 1908.

They came up with two conclusions: First, that baseball was a real American game and had no connection with rounders or any other British cavortings; second, that Abner Doubleday invented the rules.

By 1939 a lot of new arguments came up. Come to any conclusion and you can start a terrible beef. The new arguments hung on a lady named Mary Lepell, Lady Hervey.

Mary was a chatty old doll who probably didn't know second base from a player's option. So it is downright amusing to hear her quoted as an expert. What she was interested in was the social events of her day in 1748.

So speaking of the Prince of Wales, she write:

"The Prince's family is an example of cheerful and innocent amusements. They divert themselves at baseball, a play all who have, or have been schoolboys, are well acquainted with."

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, some scholarly fan dusted off Mary's old letter. and he dusted right down to Yankee Stadium and said, "How about that, eh?"

All the sports writers and players sat around the bull pen and said well, it might be one thing and it might be another. Anyway, the hassle was on again.

I do not think it proves anything. It proves that Mary liked to see what the Prince was up to and write letters about it. It proves that Mary liked a preposition to end her sentences with. That is about all.

When I was belting line drives in the league that used to play in the street, between 69th and 77th in Chicago, we used to play baseball. Maybe even somebody wrote it in a letter: "The boys are playing baseball in the street."

Our league was small, consisting usually of three men.

Israel Renews Request For $64 Million Worth Of U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (INS) — Israel Wednesday renewed its request to the United States for 64 million dollars worth of arms.

Ambassador Abba Eban conferred for nearly an hour with assistant secretary of state George V. Allen on the request and other matters between Israel and the U.S.

Eban said he "got the impression from Allen that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who returned Wednesday from the Far East, will want to confer with him shortly on Middle Eastern affairs.

The envoy declined to comment on the U.S. request for an urgent meeting of the United Nations security council to discuss the Palestine crisis.

Eban noted that Allen recently returned from the Middle East and said he "took the opportunity today of reviewing with Mr. Allen developments in the Middle East since his departure."

In addition, Eban said, they "reviewed other important problems in American-Israeli relations."

Jerusalem (INS) — Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said he believes there is only a "remote" chance the United Nations Security Council can work out a solution of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Ben-Gurion was asked whether he was happy over the security council plan to discuss the middle east crisis and seek a peaceful settlement. He said:

"The Security Council may eventually adopt one or more resolutions but I am doubtful of their efficiency."

Algiers (INS) — The French Army reported that 32 Algerian Nationalist rebels were killed and 56 taken prisoner during the past two days.

Biggest individual operation, Agence France Presse reported, occurred near Doukhan in the Tebessa area. The French claimed that 13 rebels were killed and 32 captured in an engagement with French troops. French losses were not disclosed.

Tel Avia, Israel (AP) — Premier David Ben-Gurion told 38 American newspaper editors and radio commentators that Egyptian Premier Nasser is a prisoner of his military junta and may be forced by his colleagues to make war on Israel.

"Therefore, we regard the situation as very serious," he declared, adding that the only way to avoid war is for Israel's friends to give her arms of the same quality — if not in the same quantity —that Egypt got from the Communist bloc.

Paris (AP) — A French official said France has not yet taken a decision to ship 12 Mystere jet fighters to Israel to fill a long-standing contract.

The official commented on reports in the Middle East that France had decided to go ahead with the shipment.

Gaza, Egyptian-held Palestine (AP) — Two U. N. armistice observers were caught in a 70-minute battle between Egyptian and Israeli forces east of Khan Yunes in the Gaza strip.

The observers eventually crawled to safety under a white flag of truce after being pinned down under cross-fire.

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—An Israeli military spokesman reported a land mine exploded under a farm vehicle southeast of the Gaza strip, injuring 11 persons. He said 30 Israeli settlers were riding the tractor-drawn vehicle.

Schenectady G-E Plant Explosions Kill One, Injure 11

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (INS)— A series of explosions and fire Wednesday destroyed a four-story building at the General Electric Company's Schenectady plant.

One man was killed, another is missing and 11 others were injured. Four other buildings were damaged.

James M. Crawford, GE vice-president, said that preliminary estimates place the total damage at $7,500,000.

Company investigators were unable to determine the cause of the explosions which tore through the alkyd resin plant.

The body of Louis Savecchio, 49, of Broadalbin, N. Y., a watchman at the plant, was found in the ruins about 11 hours after the explosion and fire.

To Buy Cotton

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Commerce Minister Mohamed Abou Mosseir said Communist China had agreed to buy 10 million pounds —, 23 million dollars — worth of cotton from Egypt in March and April.

Mosseir made the announcement at the beginning of talks with a Red China trade mission aimed at expanding trade beyond that called for in a three-year agreement.

Inmate's Try To Rid Charge Is Overruled

The motion of James Sledge, 31-year-old Penitentiary inmate, for dismissal of the second-degree arson charge against him was overruled Wednesday by Lancaster District Judge John L. Polk.

Sledge, who said he would defend himself at trial, contended that he had been tried, convicted and punished last Dec. 19 by a prison court on the same charge and was being put in "double jeopardy" by the state's charge.

Deputy County Attorney Dale Fahrnbruch said the inmate "answered his own motion" when he conceded that a court of law had no jurisdiction over a prison disciplinary body. The defendant has not yet been tried by a court of law, the attorney added.

Prior to making his motion, Sledge pleaded not guilty to a two-count charge of second-degree arson in the Aug. 16 prison fire and assault with intent to do great bodily harm to another inmate on Aug. 17.

Judge Polk ordered the defendant held for trial, but reserved ruling on another motion of Sledge for discharge of his court-appointed attorney.

Sledge told the court it was his constitutional right "to defend myself" at trial.

Special Session

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — Several east Arkansas legislators confirmed reports that a petition is being curculated among lawmakers calling for a special session of the legislature to deal with public school integration.

The legislators, all from areas with heavy Negro populations, asked that their identities be withheld. One man said the petition does not contain the word "integration," but deals more particularly with a school assignment plan.

Future Of British Officers In Arab Legion Discussed

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The future of British officers serving with the Arab Legion was discussed here Wednesday at a meeting between British Ambassador Charles Duke and Jordan Premier Samir Rifai.

The British government ordered the recall of 15 senior officers from Legion service recently, but has since agreed to negotiate on the question.

A British Embassy spokesman Wednesday denied that it was intended to recall officers serving as experts with the Legion. However British officers are no longer in command positions.

Commies Differ

TOKYO (Thursday) (INS) — Red China claimed today it was the Nationalists — not the Communists — who fired the opening shots in an hour-long exchange of heavy shellfire off Tateng in the Matsu Islands Tuesday night.

Free China had announced that the Chinese Communists started the action when five Red naval vessels hurled 114 shells into Tateng under cover of artillery fire from shore batteries on the Huangchi Peninusla.

Corn Loses Some; Most Grains Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains ended firm on the Board of Trade Wednesday, helped along by a rally in the last half hour.

Only exception to the firm tone existed in corn, which closed fractionally lower on profit taking following its recent advances. Trading was not active in any pit.

The market was firm throughout the first hour, during which May wheat scored a new seasonal high, but tended to drag downward until the final hour rally got underway. May wheat made a new top near the close.

Wheat finished ¼-2½ higher, corn ½-⅝ lower, oats ¼-⅜ higher and rye ¼-½ higher.

Soybeans closed 1 to 2 cents higher and lard 2 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Buying in May wheat was inspired in part by the extremely strong manner in which the March future was closed out Wednesday. This led some optimistic bulls to hope the same thing would happen for May wheat.

The main condition bringing about the sharp upturn in March wheat in recent weeks—a limited supply of "free" wheat at Chicago—still persisted.

No. 2 hard wheat, the deliverable grade, was quoted 10 cents a bushel over the May future.

The slight dip in corn was viewed largely as a technical matter. The fair-sized rise in corn in recent weeks and this apparently attracted profit taking. Corn price held steady in the cash market.

Mart Moves Down On Profi-Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was depressed Wednesday by profit-taking in the recently strong blue chips.

The general decline took prices down 1 to around 3 points. There weren't many good gainers.

Most sizable rises were accounted for by corporate news or Wall Street rumors.

The market started lower and continued down throughout the session.

Steels, coppers and aircrafts faced early selling which eventually took in just about every segment of the list.

The market has been making one new record high after another, and Wednesday's backward step was looked upon in Wall Street as a natural breather in the climb upward.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $1.30 at $188.50. The decline was the largest since early February.

The industrial component of the average took the biggest loss, with a drop of $3.00. Rails were down only 10 cents while utilities were off 20 cents.

Westinghouse Electric greeted the end of its long strike with a fractional advance at the opening and then fell back to close off 2 points at 63 as the day's second most active issue.
